“WHAT'S Christyan Science?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“'T is wan way iv gettin' th' money,” said Mr. Dooley.

“But what's it like?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“Well,” said Mr. Dooley, “ye have somethin' th' matter with ye. Ye have a leg cut off.”

“Th' Lord save us!” exclaimed Mr. Hennessy.

“That is, ye think ye have,” Mr. Dooley went on. “Ye think ye have a leg cut off. Ye see it goin' an' says ye to ye'ersilf: ‘More expinse. A wooden leg.’ Ye think ye have lost it. But ye're wrong. Ye're as well as iver ye was. Both legs is attached to ye, on'y ye don't know it. Ye call up a Christyan Scientist, or ye'er wife does. Not manny men is Christyan Scientists, but near all women is, in wan way or another. Ye'er wife calls up a Christyan Scientist, an' says she: ‘Me husband thinks he's lost a leg,’ she says. ‘Nonsense,’ says th' Christyan Scientist, she says, f'r she's a woman too. ‘Nonsense,’ says she.

'No wan iver lost a leg,' she says. 'Well, 't is sthrange,' says th' wife. 'He 's mislaid it, thin,' she says, 'fr he has n't got it,' she says. 'He on'y thinks he's lost it,' says th' Christyan Scientist. 'Lave him think it on again,' she says. 'Lave him rayminber,' she says, 'they'se no such thing in th' wurruld,' she says, 'as pain an' injury,' she says. 'Lave him to put his mind hard to it,' she says, 'an' I'll put mine,' she says, 'an' we'll all put our minds to it, an' 't will be all r-right,' she says. So she thinks an' th' wife thinks an' ye think th' best ye know how, an' affther awhile a leg comes peepin' out with a complete set iv tootsies, an' be th' time th' las' thought is expinded, ye have a set iv as well-matched gambas as ye iver wore to a picnic. But ye must n't stop thinkin' or ye'er wife or th' Christyan Scientist. If wan iv ye laves go th' rope, th' leg'll get discouraged an' quit growin'. Manny a man 's sprouted a limb on'y to have it stop between th' ankle an' th' shin because th' Christyan Scientist was called away to see what ailed th' baby."

"Sure, 't is all foolishness," said Mr. Hennessy.

"Well, sir, who can tell?" said Mr. Dooley. "If it was n't fr medical pro-gress, I'd be sure th' Christyan Scientists was wrong. But th' doctor who attinded me whin I was young'd be thought as loonatical if he was alive to-day as th' mos' Christyan Scientist that iver ray-jooed a swellin' over a long-distance tillyphone. He intrajooiced near th' whole parish into this life iv sin an' sorrow, he give us calomel with a shovel, bled us like a polis captain, an' niver thought anny medicine was good if it did n't choke ye goin' down. I can see him now as he come up dhrivin' an ol' gray an' yellow horse in a buggy. He had whiskers that he cud tie in a knot round his waist, an' him an' th' priest was th' on'y two men in th' neighborhood that carried a goold watch. He used to say 't was th' healthiest parish in th' wurruld, barrin' hangin's an' thransportations, an' thim come in Father Hickey's province. Ivrybody thought he was a gr-reat man, but they wudden't lave him threat a spavin in these days. He was catch-as-catch-can, an' he'd tackle annythin' fr'm pnoomony iv th' lungs to premachure baldness. He'd niver heerd iv mickrobes an' nayther did I till a few years ago, whin I was tol' they was a kind iv animals or bugs that crawled around in ye like spiders. I see pitchers iv thim in th' pa-apers with eyes like pooched eggs till I dhreamed wan night I was a hayloft full iv bats. 'Thin th' dock down th' sthreet set me r-right. He says th' mickrobes is a vigitable, an' ivry man is like a conservatory full iv millyons iv these potted plants. Some ar-re good f'r ye, an' some ar-re bad. Whin th' chube roses an' geranyums is flourishin' an' liftin' their dainty petals to th' sun, ye're healthy, but whin th' other flower gets th' best iv these nosegays, 'tis time to call in a doctor. Th' doctor is a kind iv gardner f'r ye. 'Tis his business f'r to encourage th' good mickrobes, makin' two pansies grow where wan grew befure, an' to hoe out th' Canajeen thistle an' th' milkweed.

"Well, that sounds all r-right, an' I sind f'r a doctor. 'Dock,' says I, 'me vilets ar-re thinnin' out, an' I feel as though I was full iv sage brush,' I say. Th' dock puts a glass chube in me mouth an' says, 'Don't bite it.' 'D' ye think I'm a glass eater?' says I, talkin' through me teeth like a Kerry lawyer. 'What's it fr?' I says. 'To take ye'er timprachoor,' says he. While I have th' chube in me mouth, he jabs me thumb with a needle an' laves th' room. He comes back about th' time I'm r-ready to sthrange an' removes th' chube. 'How high does she spout?' says I. 'Ninety-nine,' says he. 'Good hivens!' says I. 'Don't come near me, dock, or ye'll be sun sthrucc,' I says. 'I've just examined ye'er blood,' he says. 'Ye're full iv weeds,' he says. Be that time I'm scared to death, an' I say a few prayers, whin he fixes a hose to me chest an' begins listenin'. 'Annythin' goin' on inside?' says I. 'Tis ye'er heart,' says he. 'Glory be!' says I. 'What's th' matther with that ol' ingine?' says I. 'I cud tell ye,' he says, 'but I'll have to call in Dock Vinthrice, th' speycialist,' he says. 'I ought n't be lookin' at ye'er heart at all,' he says. 'I niver larned below th' chin, an' I'd be fired be th' Union if they knew I was wurrugin' on th' heart,' he says. So he sinds fr Dock Vinthricle, an' th' dock climbs me chest an' listens, an' thin he says: 'They'se somethin' th' matther with his lungs too,' he says. 'At times they're full iv air, an' again,' he says, 'they ain't,' he says. 'Sind fr Bellows,' he says. Bellows comes an' pounds me as though I was a roof he was shingliu', an' sinds fr Dock Laporatteny. Th' dock sticks his finger into me side. 'What's that fr?' says I. 'That's McBurney's point,' he says. 'I don't see it,' says I. 'McBurney must have had a fine sinse iv humor.' 'Did it hurt?' says he. 'Not,' says I, 'as much as though ye'd used an awl,' says I, 'or a chisel,' I says; 'but,' I says, 'it did n't tickle,' I says.

"He shakes his head an' goes out iv th' room with th' others, an' they talk it over at tin dollars a minyit while I'm layin' there at two dollars a day — docked. Whin they come back, wan iv thim says: 'This here is a mos' inthrestin' case, an' we must have th' whole class take a look into it,' he says. 'It' means me, Hinnissy. 'Dock,' he says. 'Ye will remove its brain. Vinthricle, ye will have its heart, an', Bellows, ye will take its lungs. As fr me,' he says, 'I will add wan more vermiform appindix to me belt,' he says. 'Tis sthrange how our foolish predecessors,' says he, 'niver got on to th' dangers iv th' vermiform appindix,' he says. 'I have no doubt that that's what kilt Methusalem,' he says. So they mark out their wurruk on me with a piece iv red chalk, an' if I get well I look like a rag carpet. Sometimes they lave things in ye, Hinnessy. I knowed a man wanst, Moriarty was his name, Tim Moriarty, an' he had to be hemstitched hurridly because they was goin' to be a ball game that day, an' they locked up in him two sponges, a saw, an ice-pick, a goold watch, an' a pair iv curlin' irons belongin' to wan iv th' nurses. He tol' me he did n't feel well but he did n't think annythin' iv it till he noticed that he jingled whin he walked.

“That's what they do with ye nowadays, Hinnessy. Ivry time I go into Dock Cassidy's office, he gives me a look that makes me wisht I'd wore a suit iv chain armor. His eyes seem to say, 'Can I come in?' Between th' Christyan Scientists an' him, 't is a question iv whether ye want to be threated like a loonytic or like a can iv preserved vigitables. Father Kelly says th' styles iv medicine changes like th' styles iv hats. Whin he was a boy, they give ye quinine f'r whatever ailed ye, an' now they give ye sthrychnine, an' nex' year they'll be givin' ye proo-sic acid, maybe. He says they're findin' new things th' matther with ye ivry day, an' ol' things that have to be taken out, ontill the time is comin' whin not more thin half iv us'll be rale, an' th' rest'll be rubber. He says they ought to enforce th' law iv assault with a deadly weepin again th' doctors. He says that if they knew less about pizen an' more about gruel, an' opened fewer patients an' more windows, they'd not be so many Christyan Scientists. He says th' diff'rence between Christyan Scientists an' doctors is that Christyan Scientists think they'se no such thing as disease, an' doctors think there ain't annythin' else. An' there ye ar-re."

"What d'ye think about it?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"I think," said Mr. Dooley, "that if th' Christyan Scientists had some science an' th' doctors more Christyanity, it wudden't make anny diff'rence which ye called in — if ye had a good nurse."

“GREAT goin’s on at Newport,” said Mr. Dooley.
“What’s Newport?” said Mr. Hennessy.
“I r-read about it ivry day in th’ pa-aper,” said Mr. Dooley; “an’ I know. ’Tis th’ socyal capital iv America this here pa-aper says. ’Tis like Wash’nton, on’y it costs more. ’Tis where th’ socyal ligislachure meets waunst a year an’ decides how long we’ll wear our coats this season an’ how often, an’ how our yachts’ll be cut an’ our frinds. ’Tis there th’ millyionaire meets his wife that was an’ inthrajooeces her to his wife that is to be if she can break away fr’ m her husband that ought n’t to ’ve been.

“Yes, sir, it must be th’ gran’ place. But ’tis no aisy thing livin’ there. In th’ first place, ye must have th’ money an’ ye must have th’ look iv havin’ it, an’ ye must look as though it belonged to ye. That last’s th’ hardest thing iv all. No matther how much coin a man has if it has n’t been siperated fr’ m th’ man that arned it so long that th’ man that has it can go ar-round without th’ fear iv a mechanic’s lien in his eye, they tear up his ticket at th’ box-office. where th' nobility goes as little liver pills, not f'r him th' vigitable party where th' signs iv aristocracy appears radyanly clad as onions an' egg-plants, not f'r him th' jolt fr'm Mrs. Bilcoort or th' quick left fr'm Mrs. Rasther. He's set back to about Cooney Island, an' there he stays till his money stops baggin' at th' knees an' climbin' up over th' collar.

“But 't is th' millyonaire's dhream to land there. He starts in as foreman in a can facthry. By an' by, he larns that wan iv th' men wurrakin' f'r him has invinted a top that ye can opin with a pair iv scissors, an' he throws him down an' takes it away fr'm him. He's a robber, says ye? He is while he's got th' other man down. But whin he gets up, he's a magnate. Thin he sells out his wurruks to a thrust, an' thin he sells out th' thrust to th' thrustful, an' thin he begins his weary march to Newport. First he has a house on Mitchigan Avnoo with ir'n dogs on th' lawn. Then he builds a palachial mansion at Oconomowoc. They're beginnin' to hear about him now. Thin he moves down to th' sea-shore an' roughs it with th' Purytans, an' fin'lly he lands. 'T is a summer's mornin' as his yacht steams slowly up to Newport. Th' aged millyonaire is propped up on th' deck, an' as th' sunlight sthrikes th' homes iv luxury an' alimony, a smile crosses his face. ‘Is that th' house iv Mrs. Rasther?’ he says. ‘It is,’ says th' weepin' fam'ly. ‘An' is that where Mr. A. an' sometimes W. an' Y. Belcoort lives an' has his bein'?' 'That's th' house.' 'Thin,' he says, 'put me congress gaiters undher th' bed an' hide me fine-cut where none can see it,' he says. 'I die contint,' he says."

"What do they do there?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Well, 't is hard fr me to make out," said Mr. Dooley. "They must have their own throubles. Ivry day I r-read in th' pa-aper iv a horrible eatastrophe at Newport. Here ye ar-re to-day. 'Misther Willie Hankerbilt met with a mos' dhreadful an' provokin' accident to-day. While dhrivin' his cillybrated gasoline, Booney-Mooney five hundherd power autymobile, Purple Assassin, at a modhrate rate iv wan hundherd miles an hour, accompanied be th' beautiful Countess Eckstein (who was formerly Mrs. Casey-Kelly, whose husband's marredge with her aunt was cillybrated at Saint Gogo's-on-th'-hill las' week), he was r-run into be wan Thomas Sullivan, a painther employed be Mrs. Reginald Steenevant, who is soon to occupy th' handsome house, Dove Villa, which is part iv th' settlement allowed her be th' Dakota coorts. Mr. Hankerbilt was onable to turn aside to avoid th' col-lision, an' it was on'y be a supreme effort that he kep' fr'm bein' tipped over. He showed rare prisince iv mind, on which he was congrathulated be th' whole colony. Sullivan showed no prisince iv mind at all ayether before or afther death. Manny iv th' cottagers ar-re talkin' iv havin' a law passed compellin' pedesthreens to ring a bell an' blow a hor-rrn on their way to wurruk, otherwise they won't be a whole tire left in Newport.

“An' if it is n't bein' bumped into be pedesthreens, it's bein' almost upset in a yacht or bein' almost dhrowned swimmin', or almost suffycated at a garden party. An' thin there ar-re burglars. There ar-re burglars that break into ye'er house, an' there ar-re burglars that creep up behind ye an' give ye a wallop with a piece iv pipe an' steal ye'er dinner nights. Ye heerd about poor Mrs. Rasther. Well, sir, I almost cried. Ye see, whoiver it was med Newport, whin he laid out th' spicifycations set aside two days ivry week fr Mrs. Rasther's dinner. On thim days Mrs. Rasther was to eat. I don't know what she done on th' other days. But two dinners a week ain't much fr even a lady an' light feeder, an' ye can imagine this poor woman countin' th' days. 'Sundah, July eight, on'y two days to victuals.' 'Mondah, July nine, twinty-four hours to th' groceries.' 'Choosdah, have n't time to write me di'ry.' 'Winsdah, in bed, docther thinks nawthin' seery-ous.' Well, sir, wud ye believe it, ye won't, some on-scrupylous persons, some shop-lifters, disgeesed as s'ciety leaders, some criminals, took off their shoes an' crept in an' hooked Mrs. Rasther's dinner nights. Stole thim, be hivins. Lifted thim off th' line. I don't know how they done it, but here it is in th' pa-aper: 'Newport much excited. Mrs. Rasther's dinner nights stolen.' I hope they'll get afther thim Red Learies iv Newport s'ciety an' sintince thim, an' I hope th' polis'll raycover Mrs. Rasther's dinner nights an' she can identify th' goods. What's it to be a s'ciety leader if ye can't eat. 'Tis an impty honor, be hivins. They'se nawthin' to it."

"Well, why do they live there if it gives thim so much trouble?" said Mr. Hennessy.

"Well, sir," said Mr. Dooley, "I guess they ain't much diff'rence between th' very rich an' th' very poor. In th' ol' cuntry whin a man got th' money, he used to buy an estate an' thry to get as far away fr'm annywan else as he cud, an' th' on'y time he see annywan was whin he wint to Dublin fr horse show week an' sold all his spavined horses to th' hated Sassenach, an' come back an' sobered up. But here 't is diff'rent. Rich or poor, we want to be in sight an' sound iv neighbors or they'se no fun in life. What made Mrs. Mulligan rayfuse las' year to go to live on th' tin acres her rich brother, th' plumber, offered her rint free? She needed comp'ny. She wanted to be where she cud get th' smell iv th' neighbors' cookin' an' brush th' clothes line aside an' talk acrost th' alley with Mrs. Schmittschmitt an' see rollickin' Terry Duffy go by on his autymobile ringin' up fares. So it is with th' mill-yonaire. He's got to have some wan to set on th' stoop iv his yacht with him chattin' about matthers iv th' Union, while his wife has th' s'ciety iv other millyionaires' wives an' can give little Reggy or Clarissa eight dollars an' sind thim down to th' corner f'r a pail iv champagne. As more millyionaires comes up, th' place'll be more an' more crowded. It'll be a conjisted disthric, an' we'll r-read in th' pa-apers iv a millyionaire an' fam'ly iv eight livin' in wan room with on'y about two-be-four iv oxygen f'r each person. No, sir, they ain't th' breadth iv ye'er hand's diff'rence between Mrs. Mulligan an' Mrs. Ganderbilk. If Tim Mulligan iver shovels his way into a thrust, Mrs. Mulligan 'd live at Newport, an' if Ganderbilk wint broke, Mrs. Ganderbilk wud be in a tiniment. 'Tis th' socyal feelin', Hinnissy."

"We're all alike," said Mr. Hennessy.

"They ain't more thin three or four hundherd millyion dollars diff'rence between us," said Mr. Dooley.

DECISIONS*

THE SUPREME COURT'S DECISIONS

“I SEE,” said Mr. Dooley, “Th’ supreme coort has decided th’ constitution don’t follow th’ flag.”

“Who said it did?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“Some wan,” said Mr. Dooley. “It happened a long time ago an’ I don’t rayminber clearly how it come up, but some fellow said that ivrywhere th’ constitution wint, th’ flag was sure to go. ‘I don’t believe wan wurrud iv it,’ says th’ other fellow. ‘Ye can’t make me think th’ constitution is goin’ thrapezin’ around ivrywhere a young liftnant in th’ ar-rmy takes it into his head to stick a flag pole. It’s too old. It’s a home-stayin’ constitution with a blue coat with brass buttons onto it, an’ it walks with a goold-headed cane. It’s old an’ it’s feeble an’ it prefers to set on th’ front stoop an’ amuse th’ childher. It wudden’t last a minyit in thim thropical climes. ’T wud get a pain in th’ fourteenth amindmint an’ die before th’ doctors cud get ar-round to cut it out. No, sir, we’ll keep it with us, an’ threat it tenderly without too much hard wurruk, an' whin it plays out entirely we'll give it dacint buryal an' incorp'rate oursilves under th' laws iv Noo Jarsey. That's what we'll do,' says he. 'But,' says th' other, 'if it wants to thtravel, why not lave it?' 'But it don't want to.' 'I say it does.' 'How'll we find out?' 'We'll ask th' supreme coort. They'll know what's good f'r it.'"

"So it wint up to th' supreme coort. They'se wan thing about th' supreme coort, if ye lave annything to thim, ye lave it to thim. Ye don't get a check that entitles ye to call f'r it in an hour. The supreme coort iv th' United States ain't in anny hurry about catchin' th' mails. It don't have to make th' las' car. I'd back th' Aujitoroom again it anny day f'r a foot race. If ye're lookin' f'r a game iv quick decisions an' base hits, ye've got to hire another empire. It niver gives a decision till th' crowd has dispersed an' th' players have packed their bats in th' bags an' started f'r home.

"F'r awhile ivrybody watched to see what th' supreme coort wud do. I knew mesilf I felt I cudden't make another move in th' game till I heerd fr'm thim. Buildin' op'rations was suspinded an' we sthud wringin' our hands outside th' dure waitin' f'r information fr'm th' bedside. 'What're they doin' now?' cussin' th' condition iv th' Roman Empire before th' fire. Th' r-rest iv th' coort is considherin' th' question iv whether they ought or ought not to wear ruchin' on their skirts an' hopin' crinoline won't come in again. No decision to-day?' An' so it wint f'r days, an' weeks an' months. Th' men that had argyied that th' constitution ought to shadow th' flag to all th' tough resorts on th' Passyfic coast an' th' men that argyied that th' flag was so lively that no constitution cud follow it an' survive, they died or lost their jobs or wint back to Salem an' were f'rgotten. Expansionists contracted an' anti-expansionists blew up an' little childher was born into th' wurru'd an' grew to manhood an' niver heerd iv Porther Ricky except whin some won get a job there. I'd about made up me mind to thry an' put th' thing out iv me thoughts an' go back to wurruk when I woke up wan mornin' an' see be th' pa-aper that th' Supreme Coort had warned th' constitution to lave th' flag alone an' tind to its own business.

“That's what th' pa-aper says, but I've r-read over th' decision an' I don't see annything iv th' kind there. They 'se not a wurru'd about th' flag an' not enough to tire ye about th' constitution. 'Tis a matther iv limons, Hinmissy, that th' Supreme Coort has been settin' on f'r this gineration — a cargo iv limons sint fr'm Porther Ricky to some Eytalian in Philydelphy. mind, an' ex-officio, as Hogan says, th' first to speak, afther a crool an' bitther contest. Says Brown J.: 'Th' question here is wan iv such gr-great importance that we've been sthruuglin' over it iver since ye see us las' an' on'y come to a decision (Fuller C. J., Gray J., Harlan J., Shiras J., McKenna J., White J., Brewer J., an' Peckham J. dissentin' fr'm me an' each other) because iv th' hot weather comin' on. Wash'n'ton is a dhreadful place in summer (Fuller C. J. dissentin'). Th' whole fabric iv our government is threatened, th' lives iv our people an' th' progress iv civilization put to th' bad. Men ar-re excited. But why? We ar-re not. (Harlan J., "I am." Fuller C. J. dissentin', but not fr' th' same reason.) This thing must be settled wan way or th' other undher that dear ol' constitution be varchue iv which we are here an' ye ar-re there an' Congress is out West practicin' law. Now what does th' constitution say? We'll look it up thoroughly whin we get through with this case (th' rest iv th' coort dissentin'). In th' manetime we must be governed be th' ordnances iv th' Khan iv Beloochistan, th' laws iv Hinnery th' Eighth, th' opinyon iv Justice iv th' Peace Oscar Larson in th' case iv th' township iv Red Wing varsus Petersen, an' th' Dhred Scott decision. What do they say about limons? Nawthin' at all. Again we take th' Dhred Scott decision. This is wan iv th' worst I iver r-read. If I cudden't write a betther wan with blindhers on, I'd leap off th' bench. This horrible fluke iv a decision throws a gr-reat, an almost dazzlin' light on th' case. I will turn it off. (McKenna J. concurs, but thinks it ought to be blowed out.) But where was I? I must put on me specs. Oh, about th' limons. Well, th' decision iv th' Coort (th' others dissentin') is as follows: First, that th' Disthriect iv Columbya is a state; second, that it is not; third, that New York is a state; fourth, that it is a crown colony; fifth, that all states ar-re states an' all territories ar-re territories in th' eyes iv other powers, but Gawd knows what they ar-re at home. In th' case iv Hogan varsus Mullins, th' decision is he must paper th' barn. (Hinnery VIII, sixteen, six, four, eleven.) In Wiggins varsus et al. th' cow belonged. (Louis XIV, 90 in rem.) In E. P. Vigore varsus Ad Lib., the custody iv th' childher. I'll now fall back a furlong or two in me chair, while me larned but misguided collagues r-read th' Histry iv Iceland to show ye how wrong I am. But mind ye, what I've said goes. I let thim talk because it exercises their throats, but ye've heard all th' decision on this limon case that'll get into th' fourth reader.' “An’ there ye have th’ decision, Hinmissy, that’s shaken th’ intellicts iv th’ nation to their very foundations, or will if they thry to read it. ’T is all r-right. Look it over some time. ’T is fine spoort if ye don’t care f’r checkers. Some say it laves th’ flag up in th’ air an’ some say that’s where it laves th’ constitution. Amyhow, something’s in th’ air. But there’s wan thing I’m sure about.”

“What’s that?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“That is,” said Mr. Dooley, “no matther whether th’ constitution follows th’ flag or not, th’ supreme coort follows th’ iliction returns.”

“WELL, sir,” said Mr. Dooley, “th’ English ar-re goin’ to end th’ Boer War. They’ve taken th’ final steps. It’s as good as finished.”

“What ar-re they doin’?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“Ye see,” said Mr. Dooley, “th’ gover’mint is tired iv th’ way th’ war’s been goin’. It’s becomin’ a nuisance. Whin rayspictable English people go to war, they don’t ixpict to have to keep it up foriver. They’s other things to do. But th’ Boers wudden’t stop. Manny attimpts was made to con-cilyate thim. ‘If ye will lay down ye’er ar-rms an’ cut ye’er hair,’ said Lord Roberts iv Candyhar an’ Cork an’ Pretorya an’ th’ dominyons beyond th’ sea, ‘an’ frget Kruger an larn to sing Gawd save th’ king, ye’ll be allowed to stand again a wall an’ be shot. 'But,' they says, 'gr-reat as wud be th' honor iv bein' burrid in th' Union Jack with a brass band to play over us, we like th' glad free an' dishon'rabable life iv th' veldt,' they says. 'We must stay out an' injye th' rural scenery awhile. How do we know,' says they, 'but wan iv th' firin' squad might n't shut his eyes an' hit us?' says they. 'Well,' says Lord Roberts iv th' city directhry, 'if that's th' case,' he says, 'I'm goin' home,' he says, 'an' capture a few more cities f'r me title,' he says. 'I niver fought such a mob iv rude ungovernable savages in me life,' he says. 'I quit ye,' he says. An' he wint away an' left Lord Kitchener to r-run th' game. Lord Kitchener's a gr-reat man. He's kilt more naygurs thin annything but watermilons. He thried concilyatin' th' inimy. He hanged thim whin he caught thim. Whin an English marksman gets that kind iv a dhrop on a man, he niver misses. But still th' Boers rayfused to come in. Thin th' war was renewed with gr-reat inergy. Th' gin'ral larned fr'm th' cow, who has been shot, that th' Boers ar-re in disprate condition an' cannot hold out much longer. I ricommind that th' Hon. Lord Gin'ral T. Puntington-Canew be made a jook an' receive a grant iv wan millyon pounds sterling. He departed f'r home yesterdah, havin' seen nearly a week iv sarvice be flood an' field.' How th' Boers sthud up to it, Hinnissy, I niver can tell. I've been countin' up their casulties, an' they've lost enough cows to keep Armour goin' a year. Wan iv th' things a British sojer'll have to larn afther this, is th' care iv a cow.

“Still, in spite iv th' ravages iv th' Dairyman's Own, th' Boers rayfused to come in an' be governed, so th' cabinet held a meetin'. ‘T is manifest,’ says Lord Sal'sbry, ‘that this thing has gone as far as it can go in dacency,’ he says. ‘They'se a time f'r all things,’ he says, ‘an' ivrything in its place,’ he says. ‘We can't keep three hunderd thousan' sojers an' th' rapid-fire pote Roodyard Kipling down there f'river. Some iv th' cabinet that had been talkin' with th' warryor-idents was in favor iv bilin' all captured Boers in ile, but 't was pintoed out that this wud seem like home to a Boer. Some wanted to make Lord Milliner a jook but th' jooks was again this. An' 't was fin'lly decided afther a long an' arjoos debate, that th' war mus' be declared irrregular. Yes, sir, fr'm now on 't is a non-union war, 'tis again th' rules. Annywan engaged in it will be set back be th' stewards iv Henley.

"So there's th' finish iv th' Boers. They're out iv it now. They're enthries wudden't be accipected on anny thrack in th' wurruld. They have been set back f'r con-duck onbecomin' an English officer an' a gintleman. Our Anglo-Saxon cousins acrost th' sea ar-re gr-great people. They're a spoortin' people, Hinmissy. “It must be a hard job,” said Mr. Hennessy.

“Ye have to know so much.”

“'T is a hard job,” said Mr. Dooley, “but 't is a fascinat' wan. They 'se nawthin' so hard as mindin' ye'er own business an' an iditor niver has to do that. He 's like me-silf. I'm sick iv th' perpetchool round iv examin' th' beer pump an' countin' up th' receipts. I want to put on me hat an' go out an' take a peek at th' neighborhood. How 's Clancy gettin' on with his wife? Is it thru she hates him? How 's Schwartzmeister's business? Whin is Flannigan goin' to paint his barn? Afther I get through with me investigations I come back here an' give ye me opinyon on th' topics iv th' day. Be hivens, I am an iditor in me way. All I need is a cover iv a yellow man hittin' a blue goluf ball with a green shtiek to be wan iv th' gr-reatest newspapers th' wurruld iver see. some wan to make up ye'er mind about it an' I give ye th' ivints iv th' day an' tell ye what they all mane.

"But it mus' be gran' to be a rale iditor. I come down town in a goold barooche fr'm me boardin' house an' brush aside th' cabinet ministhers at th' dure an' go to me palashial chamber with tillyphone connictions to iv'ry part iv th' wurruld. I sind f'r wan iv th' spry rayporthers an' says I: 'What's goin' on up th' sthreet?' 'They was a fight between a man called Booley an' wan called Fennessy because Shannessy wudden't wurruk f'r Rooley anny longer.' 'Very good,' says I. 'Ye may go,' I says. An' I set down an' write: 'As we go to press yisterdah with our spieyal midnight tomorrahs's extry edition, we larn that a dispute has broke out between capital as ripsisinted be Martin H. Doogan an' labor, th' bulwarks iv our liberty, in th' person iv th' affable little Oscar O'Callaghan. We do not know annything about th' causes iv this unforchnit dispute, but all we can say, gintlemen, is, arbitrate! This is no time f'r puttin' forward silfish motives. Th' inthrests iv capital an' labor is th' same, wan thryin' to make capital out iv labor an' th' other thryin' to make laborin' men out iv capitalists. Therefore, we say, arbitrate, arbitrate, arbitrate!'

customers shud fork th' lunch before makin' signs at th' bar-tinder. This is an intrusion on th' r-rights iv th' people that shows how correct George Jifferson was whin he made his famous utthrance: 'Oh, if we on'y knew.' How long will this here be tolerated in this community? We warn Herr Schmittstein that we have an eye on him. We know what he done in Germany. Let him have a care.

"On foreign politics, I'm akelly sthrong: 'A war cloud has humped its back in th' Balkans an' before many days, we may look to see Germany, Rooshia, Spain, an' Portygal in deadly conflict with th' Dhryboond, th' Zollverein an' th' Toornydijemind. Th' prisint throuble is joo to th' fact that th' king iv Boolgaharia, Hanıman II, rayfused to allow th' rajah iv Sarvyä to hang his washin' on th' common clothes line defined be Prince Goochagoo in th' Council iv Nice. It will be a sad day f'r th' wur-ruld whin these gr-great naytions begins to exchange r-rights, but we wired our corryspandint at Boolywoolygoo las' night that we wud consint to act as referee. anything lower than a face ca-ard. 'T was th' tahriff an' th' war an' whether th' givermint ought to call in th' silver certificates or lave thim out in th' night air. Thim ol' la-ads did n't know they was such a thing as lawn tennis in th' wurruld. But nowadays an iditor has to be on to as many things as a departmint store. Wan minyit he's addhressin' wurruds iv good cheer to th' Czar iv Rooshya; another an' he's tellin' Andrew Carnaygie th' best way to make steel billets is to mix in a little chopped feed; a minyit later he's writin', 'Clarence Dudley has won th' tennis championship iv Noo Jarsey. We ar-re glad to see that this risin' young statesman is improvin' in his volleyin' though his lobbin' is still a thrifle lobby.' Or, 'We lane sthrongly to th' opinion that th' raysult iv th' races yesterdah shows that th' steel spinaker has come to stay. Though 't is very thryin' on th' load wather line, it takes a gr-reat deal iv weight off th' center-board, which is exactly what we said las' year.' Or, 'We note with regret that Mrs. Hankerbilt's ball gown was worn with a loop on th' pleats. How much more wholesome th' ol' fashioned erinoline.' I hate to think whin a gr-reat iditor has settled th' currency question an' th' sthrikes an' partitioned off China an' handed instrhuctions to th' crowned heads iv Europe, an' rivolutionized th' packin' business, an' tol' th' ladies what kind iv a hat to wear with a lavender skirt, he has to go home to his wife an' confiss that he f'rgot th' baby's carredge. I think I wudden't like to be an iditor afther all. I sometimes wondher they don't come out with a line printed acrost th' first page: 'We don't know annything about it an' we don't care, an' what business iv ye'ers is it annyhow?'"

"I shud think th' wurruk wud kill thim," said Mr. Hennessy, sadly.

"It does," said Mr. Dooley. "Manny gr-reat iditors is dead."

ON THE POET'S FATE

“WH<sup>O</sup> was it said he did n't care who made th' laws iv a counthry if he cud on'y write th' pomes?” asked Mr. Dooley.

“I niver heerd,” said Mr. Hennessy.

“Well, 't was some frind iv Hogan's,” said Mr. Dooley. “An' th' man was wrong. He was wrong, Hinnissy. I don't want to make th' laws iv th' counthry. I'm doin' pretty well to keep thim that ar-re made now. An' as f'r th' pothry, I'd as lave 't was wrote be other hands thin mine. I was r-readin' in th' pa-aper th' other day iv a la-ad down in th' midway that says Longfellow that I used to think was a rale good pote — he wrote life is rale, life is earnest, d' ye mind, an' I believe th' same mesilf — Longfellow ought niver to've left th' plumbin' business an' Milton was about as much iv a pote as Edward Atkinson, an' Shakespere shud be took up f'r obtainin' money be false pretinces.

“Ivrybody has a crack at a pote whin he gets a chanst. There's me frind, Roodyard Kipling. I don't mind tellin' ye he ain't my kind iv a pote. Hogan is more to me taste. Did ye iver r-read his pomes 'Oh, Star,' an' 'Oh, Moon'?”

Well, that's as far as he iver wint. He goes home at night an' takes off his coat an' sets down with a pencil in his mouth an' writes: 'Oh, Star,' an' 'Oh, Moon,' an' thin he can't think iv annything that wud do justice to thim, so he says, 'Oh, th' divvle,' an' comes over here f'r a dhrink.

"Roodyard Kipling is a diff'rint kind iv a pote. He don't keep pothry f'r style so that he can turn out behind it an' say, 'Boys, what d' ye think iv that f'r high-sheppin' verse?' Comfort an' not display is his motto. Whin he asks what Hogan calls th' Muse f'r to come up an' spend a week with him, he does n't expict her to set all day in th' hammock on th' front stoop singin' about th' bur-rds. She's got to do th' week's washin', clane th' windows, cook th' meals, chune th' pianny, dust th' furniture, mend th' socks, an' milk th' cow be day, an' be night she's got to set up an' balance th' books iv an empire. Whin this Muse has thrown up her job at Kipling's, she'll be as good a second girl as anny pote wud want to hire. So Roodyard Kipling's pomes is in gr-reat demand. They're warranted not to tear or shrink or r-run in th' wash an' he'll guarantee to fit all sizes an' ages. 'Will ye have wan or two hip pockets in ye'er pome, Mr. Rhodes?' he says. 'Boy, wrap up this package iv self-rising pothry f'r th' Canajeen market. I can do this kind iv a war pome f'r ye f'r eight an' six.' An' so it goes. He's got orders to put th' annyul rayport iv th' Bank iv England, th' crop statistics iv th' Agaricoolchral Departmint an' th' quotations iv th' Stock Exchange in pothry. His pothry will be listed nex' year an' ye can r-read it on a ticker in a saloon. He had a pome th' other day showin' that th' English army ought to buy more horses an' mules, f'r as he pinte out, a horse can r-run faster thin anny man, no matther what his record may be. 'T was a good wur-rukin' pome. I did n't like it as much as th' 'Oh, Star' kind, but, sure, live an' let live is me motto, an' if a man wants to instruet his counthry what it ought to do be playin' his advice on a harp or doin' a jig, 't is not f'r me to criticise him. I don't want to hang Roodyard Kipling because he had a pome that sounds like a speech be Lyman J. Gage on th' legal tindher act.

"But 't is diff'rint with me fellow citizens an' fellow lithry joynts. A few years ago Roodyard Kipling come over here an' got pnoomony iv th' lungs an' it looked f'r a long time as though th' nex' pome he figured in wud be wrote with a stone mason's chisel. Well, sir, it leaked out that he had a bad chest an' th' kind-hearted American public begun to weep into its beer. They was a line iv tillygraft boys a block long at th' hotel with messages iv condolence fr'm frinds iv his he niver see or heerd iv, copies iv th' same havin' been sint to th' local newspaper. Th' pa-apers was full iv tindher remarks to th' gin'ral effect that if Kipling died, Lithrachoor wud count th' cash raygister, put up th' shutters an' go out into th' night. Th' articles was accompanied be silictions fr'm his copyright pomes. Conductors on th' sthreet cars sobbed at th' mintion iv his name, fatal cocktails was called afther him, near ivry clergyman in th' counthry side-thracked th' sermon on vice an' bracketed Kipling with Martin Luther an' Rockefeller. Down on th' Stock Exchange, sthrong men cried as they said: 'Poor Kipling. What did he write?' Th' Amalgamated Browning, Omar Khayyam an' Walt Whitman Association iv tin workers iv Baraboo, Wis., held a meetin' an' raysolved that Civilization wud lose an eye if Kipling wint, an' it was th' sinse iv th' meetin' that th' treasurer be instructed to hire a copy iv his book an' see if it was as good as they said. Th' sicker he got, th' bigger man he was. Ivry time his timprachoor wint up, his repytation as a pote advanced tin degrees. Bets was offered in th' pool rooms five to wan an' no takers that he cud give Homer an' Shakespere twinty pounds an' a bating. If he'd gone out, they were goin' to put spectacles an' a fur coat on th' goddess iv liberty an' call it Kipling.

“Thin he made th' mistake iv his life. He lived. If ye iver get to be a pote, Hiunissy, don't take any chances on fame. Cinch it. Jump into th' river. But Roodyard Kipling did n't know. He wint away an' settled down an'

begun to hammer out a few lenth's iv jinted pothry to sind over to his kind frinds in America. An' what did his kind frinds do? I picked up a pa-aper th' other day. I raymimber 't was wan that had confessed to me that if annything happened to Kipling, th' iditor wud feel that he cudden't go on with his wurruk without a substantial increase in salary. Well, they was an article about a man that had killed his wife, an' it says: 'Misther So-an'-so, a well-known an' pop'lar burglar on th' west side, yisterdah was so unforchnit as to sink an axe into Mrs. So-an'-so. It is believed he acted undher gr-reat provocation.' Nex' to this piece iv society news was a scholarly article on Roodyard Kipling. 'We have just been r-readin' a pome be that confidence op'rator, Roodyard Kipling, an' if there is a pressman in this buildin' that cudden't write a betther wan, we'd feed him to his own press. We do not see who buys th' wurruks iv this fiend in human form, but annybody that does ought to be put in a place where th' green goods men can't get at him. Whin we recall th' tears we shed whin this miscreent was pretindin' to be sick, we feel like complainin' to th' polis. If he iver comes to this counthry again, we will be wan iv tin thousan' to go out an' lyuch him. To think iv th' way this imposter has been threated an' thin see that young swan iv Main Street, our own townsman, Higbie L. Duff clerkin' in a shoe store, makes us ashamed iv our counthry.'

“An’ there ye ar-re. That’s what happens to a pote whin he’s found out an’ no pote can escape. Th’ Amalgamated Assocoyation iv Baraboo has become th’ Society f’r th’ Previntion iv Kipling, th’ Stock Exchange is r-readin’ th’ polis gazette, an’ ye won’t anny more hear Kipling mintioned in th’ pulpit thin ye will th’ Bible.”

“I don’t suppose he cares,” said Mr. Hennessy.

“Well, maybe he don’t know,” said Mr. Dooley. “But it ought to be a lesson f’r anny young man who thinks iv goin’ into pothry. They’s on’y wan thing f’r a pote to do: just as they’re about to hang th’ lorls on his brow befure they begin to throw th’ bricks, he ought to pass away. Th’ nex’ best thing is to write his pothry where no wan can see him an’ dlhrop it quitely in th’ sthreet. Thin they may blame it on some wan else.”

THE YACHT RACES

“ I N th’ ol’ times whin I was a yachtsman — ” began Mr. Dooley.

“ Scowman,” said Mr. Hennessy.

“ Yachtsman,” said Mr. Dooley. “ Whin I was a yachtsman, all a man needed to race was a flat-bottomed boat, an umbrella, an’ a long dhrink. In thim days ’t was ‘ Up with th’ mainsail an’ out with th’ jib, an’ Cap’n Jawn first to th’ Lake View pumpin’ station f’r th’ see-gars.’ Now ’t is ‘ Ho, f’r a yacht race. Lave us go an’ see our lawyers.’ ’T is ‘ Haul away on th’ writ iv ne exeat,’ an’ ‘ Let go th’ peak capias.’ ’T is ‘ Pipe all hands to th’ Supreme Coort.’ ’T is ‘ A life on th’ boundin’ docket an’ a home on th’ rowlin’ calendar.’ Befure we die, Sir Lipton ’ll come over here f’r that Cup again an’ we ’ll bate him be gettin’ out an over-night injunction. What’s th’ use iv buildin’ a boat that’s lible to tip an’ spill us all into th’ wet? Turn th’ matther over to th’ firm iv Wiggins, Schultz, O’Mally, Eckstein, Wopoppski, Billotti, Gomez, Olson, an’ McPherson, an’ lave us have th’ law on him.

about, says ye? Well, ye see, 'tis this way. Wanst before th' war some la-ad fr'm this counthry took a boat acrost th' Atlantic an' run it again an English boat an' iv coorse, he won, not bein' tied to th' dock, an' they give him a Cup. I don't know why they give him a cup, but they give him a cup. He brought it back here an' handed it to a yacht club, which is an assoyation, Hinnissy, iv mimbers iv th' Bar. He says: 'Ye keep that cup on ye'er mantle-piece an' if e'er an Englishman wants it, don't ye give it to him.' Aftther awhile, an Englishman that ownded a boat come aftther th' cup, an' 't was lave go altogether, an' th' las' man to th' line knows what he is. He 's an Englishman, iv coorse. That was all r-right too. But th' time come whin th' lalgal pro-fission took a hand in th' game. 'Look here,' says they. 'Ye've vilated nearly all th' statues iv th' State iv Noo Jarsey already,' they says, 'an' if ye ain't careful, ye'll be hauled up f'r contimpt iv coort,' they says. So they took th' matther in hand an' dhrew up th' r-right pa-apers. 'State iv Noo York, county iv Cook, s. s. Know all men be these prisints. To all magisthrates an' polis officers, greetiu'. In re Sir Lipton again th' Cup. Ordhered that if Sir Lipton shall secure said Cup fr'm aforesaid (which he won't) he must build a boat as follows: Wan hundherd an' twinty chest, fifty-four waist, hip an' side pockets, carryin' three hundherd an' sixty-three thousan' cubic feet iv canvas;

Be means iv this infernal machine, if onable to kill off th' rile fam'ly, he will attempt to cross th' stormy Atlantic, an' if successful, will arrive at th' risidinee iv th' party of th' first part, said John Doe. Wanst there, he will consult with mimbers iv th' Noo York Bar Association, who will lead him to a firm iv competent expert accountants, who will give him his time, which is two minyits measured be th' invarse ratio iv th' distanee fr'm th' binnacle to th' cook-stove, an' fr'm th' cook-stove, east be north to th' bowspirit. He will thin take his foolish boat down th' bay, an' if he keeps his health, he can rayturn to th' grocery business, f'r he's a jolly good fellow which nobody can deny.'

“Ye can see this, Hinnissy, that yachtin' has become wan iv th' larned pro-fissions. 'Tis that that got th' la-ad fr'm Boston into it. They's a jolly Jack Tar f'r ye. In dlrawin' up a lease or framin' a bond, no more gallant sailor rides th' waves thin hearty Jack Larsen iv th' Amalgamated Copper Yacht Club. 'What ho?' says he. 'If we're goin' to have a race,' he says, 'shiver me timbers if I don't look up th' law,' he says. So he become a yachtsman. 'We don't want it,' they says. 'Th' terms suit me entirely,' says Cap. Larsen. 'I'm a simple sailor man an' I'll give ye me boat undher th' following conditions,' he says. 'First, that ye won't take it; second, that ye'll paint me name on th' side iv it in red letters, three feet high; third, that ye'll intrajooce me to th' Prince iv Wales; fourth, that I'll sail it meself. Nawthin', he says, 'wud give me gr-reater pleasure thin to have me handsome an' expinsive raft in th' hands iv men who I wud considher it an honor to know,' he says. 'An' so,' he says, 'I'll on'y ask ye to sign a bond an' lave a small security, say about five hundherd thousan' dollars, in me hands in case anny paint shud be knocked off me boat,' he says. 'Yachtin' is a gintleman's spoort,' he says, 'an' in dalin' with gintlemen,' he says, 'ye can't be too careful,' he says."

"What's Sir Lipton doin' all this time?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"He's preparin' his bond, makin' his will, an' goin' through th' other lagal preliminaries iv th' race. He's built a boat too. Th' King iv England was aboard iv her, an' he was near killed, be havin' a mast fall on him. Th' Lord knows how he escaped. A mass iv steel weighin' a hund-

'Twud hurt business. 'Boys,' says he to th' rayporters, 'th' King's on me yacht. D'ye hear me? Th' King's on me yacht. But don't say annything about it. I don't want to have it known. Don't print it onless ye have to, an' thin put it in an inconspicuous place, like th' first page. He's here sure enough, boys. Th' mast just fell on his Majesty. It nearly kilt him. I'm not sure it did n't kill him. He remained perfectly cool throughout. So did I. I was almost cold. So did both iv us. But, mind ye, not a wurrud iv this in th' pa-apers.' I don't know how th' rayporters got hold iv it. But they're a pryin' lot."

"How did th' mast come to fall?" asked Mr. Hennessy, eagerly. "D'ye suppose Sir Lipton is wan iv us?"

Ar-re we anny betther, tell me, f'r bein' th' high tinnis experts, th' intherprisin' rowsmen, th' champeen yachters iv th' wurruld thin we were whin we were on'y th' champeen puddlers, milkers, ploughers, an' sewin' machine agents? Why is England losin' her supremacy, Hinnissy? Because Englishmen get down to their jobs at iliven o'clock figurin' a goluf scoor on their cuffs an' lave at a quarther to twelve on a bicycle. We bate thim because 't was th' habit iv our joynt iv commerce f'r to be up with th' cock an' down to th' damper befure th' cashier come; an' in his office all day long in his shirt sleeves an' settin' on th' safe till th' las' man had gone. Now, if ye call up wan iv these captains iv industhree at wan o'clock iv a Saturdah afthernoon, th' office boy answers th' tillyphone. Th' Titan iv Commerce is out in a set iv green an' blue knee breeches, batin' a hole in a sand pile an' cur-rsin' th' evil fate that made him a millyonaire whin nature intinded him f'r a goluf champeen. Ye can't keep ye'er eye on th' ball an' on th' money at th' same time. Ye've got to be wan thing or another in this wurruld. I niver knew a good card player or a great spoortsman that cud do much iv annything else. They used to tell me that Napoleon Bonyparte, th' imp'ror iv th' Frinch, was a champeen chess player, but Hogan says he was on'y good because annybody that bate him might as well go down an' be measured f'r his ball an' chain. Did annywan iver tell ye iv th' number iv base hits made be Abraham Lincoln? Is there anny record iv George Wash'nton doin' a turn on a thrapeze or Thomas Jifferson gettin' th' money f'r throwin' th' hammer?

"In me younger days 't was not considhered rayspictable f'r to be an athlete. An athlete was always a man that was not sthrong enough f'r wurruk. "But 't is good f'r th' women," said Mr. Hennessy.

"Is it, faith?" said Mr. Dooley. "Well, it may be, but it's no good f'r th' woman f'r th' men. I don't know annything that cud be more demoralizin' thin to be marrid to a woman that cud give me a sthroke a shtick at goluf."

'Tis goin' to be th' roon iv fam'ly life. 'T will break up th' happy home. Well, I come home at night an' no matter how I've been 'Here-you-d' all day, I feel in me heart that I'm th' big thing there. What makes me feel that way, says ye? 'Tis th' sinse iv physical supeeryority. Me wife is smarter thin I am. She's had nawthin' to do all day but th' housewurruk an' puttin' in th' coal an' studyin' how she can make me do something I don't want to do that I wud want to do if she did n't want me to do it. I feel me arm as I go out to lock th' woodshed again, an' I say to mesilf: 'Oh, woman, if I iver cut loose that awful right.' An' she knows it too. If she did n't she wudden't waste her tears. Th' sinse of her physical infeeryority makes her weep. She must weep or she must fight. Most anny woman wud rather do battle thin cry, but they know it's no use.

"But now how is it? I go home at night an' I'm met at th' dure be a female joynt. Me wife's th' champeen lady golufess iv th' Ivy Leaf Goluf club; th' finest oarslady on th' canal; a tinnis player that none can raysist without injury. She can ride a horse an' I cudden't stay on a merry-go-round without clothespins. She can box a good welter weight an' she's got medals f'r th' broad jump. Th' on'y spoorts she is n't good at is cookin' an' washin'. This large lady, a little peevish because she's off her dhrive, meets me at th' dure an' begins issuin' ordhers before I have me shoes off. 'T is just th' same as if I was back on th' hoist. She does n't argy, she does n't weep. She jus' says 'Say you,' an' I'm off on th' bound. I look her over an' say I to mesilf: 'What's th' good? mint. 'T will disrupt th' home. Our fathers was r-right. They did n't risk their lives an' limbs be marryin' these female Sharkeys. What they wanted was a lady that they 'd find settin' at home whin they arrived tired fr'm th' chase, that played th' harp to thim an' got their wampum away fr'm thim more like a church fair thin like a safe blower. In th' nex' eighty or ninety years if I make up me mind to lave this boisterous life an' settle down, th' lady that I'll rayquist to double me rent an' divide me borrowin' capacity will wear no medals f'r athletic spoorts. F'r, Hinnessy, I'm afraid I cud not love a woman I might lose a fight to."

“TH’ question before th’ house is whin is a lie not a lie?” said Mr. Dooley.

“How ’s that?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“Well,” said Mr. Dooley, “here ’s Pro-fissor E. Benjamin Something-or-Other instrhuctin’ th’ youth at th’ Chicago Univarsity that a lie, if it ’s f’r a good purpose, is not a lie at all. There ’s th’ gr-reat school down there on th’ Mid-way. Ye can larn annything ye have a mind to in that there siminary an’ now they ’ll have a coorse in lyin’. Th’ earnest youth in sarch iv a career in life ’ll be taught lyin’ individjally an’ in classes, lyin’ be ear an’ be note, lyin’ in th’ home an’ lyin’ to th’ public, lyin’ autymatically, th’ lie di-rect, th’ lie injanyous, th’ lie with th’ hand, th’ lie with th’ eye, th’ r-ready fake, th’ bouncer, th’ stiff, th’ con, th’ bunk, th’ poetic lie, th’ business lie, th’ lie imaginative, th’ brassy lie, th’ timid lie, th’ white lie, th’ pathriotic or red-white-an’-blue lie, th’ lovin’ lie, th’ over-th’-left, th’ cross-me-heart, th’ hope-to-die, histhry, political economy an’ mathematics. They ’ll be a post gradyate coorse in perjury f’r th’ more studyous an’ whin th’ hon’rary degrees is given out, we ’ll know what LL. D. manes.”

“Sure, they don't need to larn people lyin',” said Mr. Hennessy.

“Well, no, faith, that 's throe,” said Mr. Dooley. “Here am I with no more iddycation thin ye cud write on th' back iv a postage stamp an' as fluent an' r-ready a liar as e'er a pro-fissor or gradyate iver tur-rned out be an Insti-choot iv Mendacity. That 's what I am. I'm a born liar. As th' pote that Hogan spouts has said: ‘I lisped in falsehood, f'r th' falsehood came.’ I cud lie before I cud speak or walk. F'r ivry lie I got found out in an' whaled f'r, I told forty that niver was r-run down. I've lied steadily through life an' here I am in me green ol' age — though not as old as many wud make out — lyin' without th' aid iv glasses. Thry me. Ask me how much wather there is in that bar'l — if ye dare! Ye're a liar too, Hinmissy.”

“What 's that?” shouted Mr. Hennessy.

“Keep cool,” said Mr. Dooley. “I'm not referrin' to what I heerd ye tell ye'er wife about th' pay check or that story iv ye'ers about th' big man ye bate in th' Halsted sthreet car. th' rich ar-re men that've accumyalted a large stock iv non-assissable, inthrest-bearin' lies or inherited th' same fr'm their indulgent an' mendacyous fathers. That 's what they tell me.

“ An' what is a lie, tell me? I cud answer mesilf if I always knew what th' thruth was, me boy. A good many iv th' whoppers I tell ye is th' raysult iv thryin' to take a short cut to th' thruth an' bringin' up just this side iv perjury. Some things that look like lies to me to-day will seem all r-right in th' pridential year. I lie a good many times fr'm kindness, more often fr'm laziness, an' most often fr'm fear. Some iv th' boldest liars I iver met wud 've been thruthful men if they'd dared to be. Th' most uncommon form is th' malicyous liar an' th' manest is th' just liar. Many men lie because they like conversation an' they feel they can't impress th' man they're talkin' with without pilin' it on. I've lied at times to beguile th' hours away. I niver deceived annywan half so much as I have mesilf. If I did n't do it wanst in awhile, I'd feel so poor an' depraved, I cudden't go on in business. Now I wondher if E. Benjamin wud call thim good purposes. Sure, if a lie's a good thing anny purpose ye may have in lyin' will look good to ye an' if 'tis a bad thing, th' purpose'll seem good anyhow. I think a lie with a purpose is wan iv th' worst kind an' th' mos' profitable. I'm more iv a spoortin' liar thin he is if I lie f'r pastime. I wud lie to get a frind out iv throuble or an inimy in, to save me counthry, if 't was not surrounded already be a devoted band iv heroic liars, to protiect me life or me property, but if annybody ast me how I done it, I'd lie out iv it.

“Father Kelly says th' pro-fissor is all r-right. He says his theory is a good wan but he don't think it fits a Baptist Colledge. 'T was held be some larned men iv our own kind an' 't was all r-right fr'm thim. 'T was th' doctrine iv a saint, but he was n't lookin' f'r anny Standard ile money. An' Father Kelly says 'tis an unsafe doctrine to thrust to anny wan but a saint. He says th' thruth or something akelly good, something that will wash, is intinded f'r ord'n'ry people. On'y a good man can be a liar. An' Father Kelly says he's niver seen a man good enough to get a di-ploma fr'm him to lie f'r anny purpose, good or bad, to tell white lies or green. If he lies, he's got to take his chances. I said: 'What wud ye do if ye see a frind iv ye'ers pursued be a murdherer an' th' murdherer-that-was-to-be ast ye which way he'd turned?' 'I cud-den't hear him,' he says. 'I'd be too far up th' alley,' he says. 'Lyin' in th' circumstances,' he says, 'wud indicate a lack iv prisince iv mind,' he says. 'It often does,' he says.”

“I WONDHER,” said Mr. Hennessy, “if us dimmycrats will iver ilict a prisidint again.”

“We wud,” said Mr. Dooley, “if we cud but get an illegible candydate.”

“What’s that?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“An illegible candydate,” said Mr. Dooley, “is a candydate that can’t be read out iv th’ party. ’T is a joke I med up. Me frind Willum J. They ’se as many dimmycrats out iv th’ party as they are in, waitin’ on th’ durestep to read thimsilves back an’ th’ other la-ads out. Th’ loudest r-reader wins.

“No, sir, th’ dimmycratic party ain’t on speakin’ terms with itsilf. Whin ye see two men with white neckties go into a sthreet car an’ set in opposite corners while wan mutthers ‘Thraiter’ an’ th’ other hisses ‘Miscreent’ ye can bet they’re two dimmycratic leaders thryin’ to reunite th’ gran’ ol’ party. ’T is on’y th’ part iv th’ party that can’t “ Me frind Willum J. is not a candydate. He 's illegible as an editor but not as a candydate. Annyhow, he don't want it or at laste he don't want to want it an' not get it. All he asks is some good man, some thried an' thrusty dimmycrat that can lead th' party on to gloryous vichtry. But he can't find him. Ye say Hill? Well, me frind Willum J. was ast to ask me frind David Binnitt to go out f'r to make a speech at a dimmycratic bankit on th' thraditions iv th' dimmycratic party, Hill bein' wan iv thim an' wan iv th' worst. ‘Gintlemen,’ says Willum Jennings, ‘I admire David Binnitt Hill. No wan,’ he says, ‘is a second to me in affection f'r that gr-reat an' good man,’ he says. ‘I shall niver fail in me devotion to him till,’ he says, ‘th' place heals up where he sunk th' axe into me in ninety-six. But,’ he says, ‘I cannot ask him to speak at ye'er bankit. I cannot bear to hear him talk. Ivry time he opens his mouth I want to put me fut into it,’ he says. ‘Moreover,’ he says, ‘if ye ask him I'll take me meal at home,’ he says, ‘f'r th' sight of that gallant dimmycrat turns me fr'm food,’ he says. So that ends Hill. We can't go with anny wan that our sainted leader can't ate an egg with without sin.

“An’ now it’s Schley’s turn. I knew it was comin’ to Schley an’ here it comes. Ye used to think he was a gran’ man, that whin ol’ Cerveera come out iv th’ harbor at Sandago called out ‘Come on, boys,’ an’ plunged into th’ Spanish fleet an’ rayjooiced it to scrap-iron. That’s what ye thought, an’ that’s what I thought, an’ we were wrong. We were wrong, Hinmissy. I’ve been r-readin’ a throe histhry iv th’ campaign be wan iv th’ gr-reatest historyians now employed as a clerk in th’ supply stores iv th’ Brooklyn navy yard. Like mesilf, he’s a fireside vethran iv th’ war. He’s a mumber iv th’ Martin Dooley Post No. 1, Definders iv th’ Hearth. He’s th’ boy f’r ye. An' what th' divvle diff'rence does it make, me boy? Th' mornin' afther iliction, 't is Hinmissy to th' slag pile an' Dooley to th' beer pump an' Jawa D. Rockefeller to th' ile can, an' th' ol' flag floatin' over all iv us if th' wind is good an' th' man in charge has got up in time to hist it. Foolish man, th' fun'ral don't stop f'r ilictions, or th' christenin's or th' weddin's. Be hivins, I think th' likes iv ye imagines this counthry is something besides a hunk iv land occypied be human bein's. Ye think it a sort iv an autymobill that 'll run down onless ye charge it with ye'er partic'lar kind iv gas. Don't ye expict Hinmissy that anny throop iv angels will ddrop fr'm Hiven to chop ye'er wood on th' mornin' iv th' siventh iv Novimber if Bryan is icted, an' don't ye lave Jawunny McKenna think that if th' raypublicans gets in, he'll have to put a sthrip iv ile-cloth on th' dure sill to keep pluthy-crats fr'm shovin' treasury notes undher th' dure. No, sir; I used to think that was so — wanst, in th' days whin I pathronized a lothry. Now I know diff'rent.

“Where ’ll they be a hundhred years fr’m now? Debs an’ Mark Hanna, an’ Web Davis, an’ Croker an’ Bill Lorimer — where ’ll they be? I was r-readin’ th’ other day about a vote cast be a lot iv distinguished gazabs through th’ counthry f’r oceypants iv a hall iv fame. A Hall iv Fame’s th’ place where th’ names iv th’ most famous men is painted, like th’ side iv a bar-rn where a little boy writes th’ name iv th’ little girl he loves. In a week or two he goes back an’ rubs it out. But in this matther ’t was detarmined to lave out th’ question to a lot iv sthrong la-ads an’ have thim vote on it an’ on’y th’ dead wans iligeable. I r-read th’ list today, Hinnissy, an’ will ye believe me or will ye not, much as I know I cudden’t recall more thin half th’ names. George Wash-’nton was ilicted, iv coorse, unaminously an’ without a con-tistin’ dillygation an’ proud he’ll be to larn iv it. Thin there was Ulyss S. Grant an’ Thomas Jefferson an’ Robert E. Lee. I know all iv thim as though we’d been raised in th’ same lot. But near all th’ others got by me. Wan man was famous because he made a cotton gin, though th’ author iv more common dhrinks was cut out. Another man got by th’ flag on th’ ground that he manyfathered a clock. A third passed th’ stand because he made a ditch-nary, which is a book that tells ye how manny diff’reent things th’ same wurrud means. An' th' list was as onfamilyar to me as th' battin' ordher iv th' Worcester ball team iv eighteen hundhred an' siventysix. 'Bedad,' says I, 'if this is fame, I'll dhraw cards mesilf. Some day whin th' owner iv a new Hall iv Fame tells th' janitor to climb up an' white-wash over th' names on th' wall an' make out a new list, some wan may vote f'r th' gr-reat soul that discovered how to make both ends meet in th' year nineteen hundhred.' That 's a gr-reat invintion, Hinnessy. Thank th' Lord th' Standard Ile Comp'ny has n't got a patent on it.

"What 's fame, afther all, me la-ad? 'T is as apt to be what some wan writes on ye'er tombstone as annything ye did f'r ye'ersilf. It takes two to make it, but on'y wan has much iv a hand. 'T is not a man's life in wan volume be himsilf, but his 'Life' in three volumes be wan iv his frinds. An' be th' way th' jury voted f'r th' lodgers in this tiniment house iv fame, manny that cud pay their scoor at th' desk is left on th' dure step because th' bunks is filled with th' frinds iv th' managers. MR. DOOLEY put down his newspaper with the remark; "They cudden't get me into coort as a witness; no, sir, not if 't was to hang me best frind.

"'T is hard enough," he said, "with newspapers an' cinsus officers an' th' mim'ry iv cab dhrivers to live down ye'er past without bein' foorced to dhrill it in a r-red coat an' with a brass band ahead before th' eyes iv th' multi-tood. I did it wanst; I'll do it no more. Wanst I was summonsed to appear in th' high temple iv justice where Timothy Duffy is th' presidin' janius, as Hogan says, to give me priceless tistymony as to whether th' plumbin' in Harrigan's house was fitted to hold wather. 'T was me opinyon, havin' had a handful iv thrumps I held in Harrigan's parlor spiled be Lake Michigan dhroppin' through th' ceilin', that said plumbin' was conthrary to th' laws an' ordinances iv th' county iv Cook, State iv Illinois, S. I was two minyits givin' me tistymony, an' two hours thryin' to convince th' hon'able coort — a loafer be th' name iv Duffy — an' th' able jury that I had n't stolen th' shirt on me back fr'm a laundry wagon. Th' coort was goin' to confine me in jail f'r life f'r contimpt, th' lawyer f'r th' definse sthrongly intimated that I was in th' neighborhood whin Charlie Ross was kidnapped an' th' jury ast to be allowed to bring in a verdict iv manslaughter again me without exthra pay. As I wint out iv th' coort two or three women in large hats hissed me an' a man at th' dure threatened me with an umbrelly ontill I made a counther dimonstration with me foot. Justice, says ye? I tell ye Hogan's r-right whin he says: 'Justice is blind.' Blind she is, an' deaf an' dumb an' has a wooden leg! Niver again will they dhraw me to a coort. I'll take th' rude justice iv a piece iv lead pipe without costs or th' r-right iv appeal.

“Here in th' pa-aper they'se a piece about a la-ad that had throuble with his vally —”

“A vally,” Mr. Dooley explained, “is a retired English gintleman hired be millyionaires who ar-re goin' into bankruptey to wear their clothes. Naked a millyionaire comes into th' wurruld an' naked his vally laves him. Th' vally's a kind iv a chambermaid that sees that th' millyion-

He rubs th' millyionaire's head an' rubbers on his love affairs, an' afther awhile laves him an' goes to wurruk f'r a society pa-aper. 'T is an ol' sayin' iv Hogan's that no man is a hero to his vally. That's thru. Th' vally 's th' hero.

"Well, this millyionaire I've been r-readin' about, he had a vally, an' the vally lost his eye wondherin' who th' lady was, an' thin he dipped too sthrong into th' Floridy wather an' th' millyionaire bounced him. He fired him out. 'Lord Roland,' he says, 'go,' he says. 'We've lived too long together,' he says. 'People can't tell us apart, we stagger so much alike,' he says. 'I'm gettin' so used to ye that I have no fear iv ye,' he says. 'It was bad enough whin ye give me blue suspinders with me r-red pantaloons,' he says, 'but,' he says, 'whin I asked f'r an orange an' ye brought in th' boot-jack, I felt that we cud no longer associate on terms iv akequality,' he says. 'Ye'll have to go back to th' House iv Lords,' he says. An' he fired him out an' wudden't pay him a cint iv wages he owed him f'r th' rest iv his life. So Lord Roland sues him an' has him in coort.

"Th' millyionaire thrrips in thinkin' to himsilf: 'T is on'y a question iv whether I shall pay this jook what I promised him or what he ought to xpiet fr'm a millyionaire. Do I or do I not owe Lord Ronald eighty-two dol-

“That's where he was wrong. He had th' same experyence I had, except mine was a case iv plumbin' an' his wan iv personal decoration. Afther he explained to th' jury that he did n't owe Lord Roland annything because his lordship got a dhroopin' eye fr'm dhrink an' frequently give him th' same collar ivry week, he was tur-rned over to th' attorney fr' th' prosecution, who cross-examined him.

To begin with ar-re ye or ar-re ye not a man iv th' most dissolute morals?' 'Answer yes or no,' says th' coort. 'He admits it,' says th' lawyer. 'Ye were dhrunk in 1892?' 'I can't raymimber,' says th' millyonaire. 'Put it down that he's always dhrunk,' says th' lawyer. 'Where did ye get ye'er money? Ye don't know? Th' jury will take note iv th' fact that he prob'bly stole it. Ye'er father is dead. Did ye kill him? I think so. "There was scarcely a dhry eye in th' coort whin th' larned counsel concluded. Th' ladies in th' audjeence applauded furyously as name afther name was brought forward. Th' judge said that he had th' time iv his life, an' th' jury afther securin' clippin's iv th' prisoner's wife's hair rayturned a verdict findin' Mrs. Hard Gold guilty iv peroxide in th' first degree, without extenuatin' circumstances, an' added a rider recommendin' th' ladies Lord Roland seen with Hard Gold be tur-rued out iv their lodgin's. It was a gr-reat triumph for th' r-right. It shows that th' coorts iv our fair land will put down with a stern hand th' growin' peroxide vice an' that justice will find out evil doers — whin they ar-re women — if it has to take th' bandages off its eyes an' hide in a clothes closet."

"It serves th' man r-right f'r havin' wan iv thim vallays ar-round th' house," said Mr. Hennessy.

THANKSGIVING

“WHIN I was a young man,” said Mr. Dooley, “I often heerd Thanksgivin’ day alooded to fr’m th’ altar as a pagan fistival. Father Kelly don’t think so. He says ’t was founded be th’ Puritans to give thanks fr’ bein’ presarved fr’m th’ Indyans, an’ that we keep it to give thanks we are presarved fr’m th’ Puritans. In th’ beginnin’, Hinmissy, ’t was a relijous fistival, like dividend day in th’ synagogues. Ye see, th’ Puritan fathers, whose dayscindants mostly live in Kansas now, had had such a divvle iv a time inthrajocin’ rellijon an’ slavery among th’ savage r-red men that they found huntin’ th’ wild cranberry in th’ neighborhood iv Salem, Mass., that whin th’ job was completed they set apart a day to thank th’ Lord for his opporehune assistance in their wurruk iv rayformin’ th’ wurruld an’ with a few frills added in th’ way iv food th’ custom’s been kept up to this very day. In iv’ry city iv this fair land th’ churches is open an’ empty, the fleet anise seed bag is pursooed over th’ smilin’ potato patch an’ th’ groans iv th’ dyin’ resound fr’m manny a fut-ball field. We’re givin’ thanks that we're presarved fr'm hunger, fr'm thirst, fr'm free silver, fr'm war an' pestilence an' famine an' each other. But don't ye frget it, Hinnessy, 'tis none iv these things we really give thanks fr. In our hearts we're grateful fr on'y wan blessin' an' that's on Thanksgivin' day we get th' first good crack iv th' season at th' Turkey bur-rd an' his r-runnin' mate, ol' Uncle Cranberry Sauce. Ye bet ye.

“Annyhow, seein' that the iliction come out th' way it did an' this counthry ain't goin' to be handed over to th' likes iv ye, we ought to cillybrate Thanksgivin' if necess'ry with achin' hearts. I'm always in favor iv givin' thanks — fr annything. 'Tis a good habit to get into. 'Thank ye kindly,' is betther thin 'bad cess to ye,' annyhow. Even whin I sneeze I say: 'Gawd bless us kindly,' an' fr th' slender blessin' iv livin' at all I say 'Praise be.' So we ought to be thankful. We have a big counthry an' 'tis growin' bigger an' we ought to be thankful fr that, an' pray that it may stop growin' in width an' grow a little more in height. Th' farmer is thankful he has a good crop an' I'm thankful I'm not a farmer. Ye cud always find room fr thanks that ye're not some wan else, if ye cud know how th' other fellow feels. A few days ago I wud've said that I'd like to be the Czar iv Rooshia but I wudden't trade places with him to-day if he'd throw in th' Kingdom of Boolgahrya to make th' thrade good.

He has to set up at night steerin' th' stars sthright, hist th' sun at th' r-right moment, turn on th' hot an' cold fassit, have rain wan place, an' fr-rost another, salt mines with a four years' supply iv goold, thrap th' mickrobes as they fly through th' air an' see that tin dollars is akelly divided among wan hundherd men so that each man gits thirty dollars more thin anny other. If he can't do that he's lible to be arrested th' first pay day f'r obtainin' money be false pretences. So I'm thankful I'm not him.

"But I'm always thankful f'r these things. Be thankful f'r what ye have not, Hinnessy — 't is th' on'y safe rule. If ye're on'y thankful f'r ye'er possissions ye'er supply won't last a day. “Some iv us,” said Mr. Hennessy, gloomily, “some iv us will be atin' another kind iv bur-rd this fall.”

“Ye're wrong there, me la-ad,” said Mr. Dooley. “Ye're wrong there. Ye're wrong. They'se no such thing as crow. Thanksgivin' day comes too quick afther iliction. “ 'Tis no wondher that my clothes is made be machinery. Th' on'y wondher is that I can get thim afther they 're made. Th' printin'-press is n't wondherful. What 's wondherful is that annybody shud want it to go on doin' what it does. Ye can't dazzle me with th' cotton-gin or th' snow-plow or th' ice-machine or th' inkybator. Says I to th' invintors an' th' machinists: 'Wurruk away,' I says, 'at forge an' anvil,' I says. 'Wurruk out ye'er devices iv human an' almost diabolical ingenooity,' I says. An oom, Hinmissy, is about th' equivalent iv a quart iv th' iliethrical flood. Does that sound right? No, faith, it don't. I niver see Niag'ra Falls, but I don't like to think iv it as a lamp-lighter tearin' round with a laddher an' a little torch. I don't believe in makin' light iv th' falls. Ye heerd th' joke. 'Tis mine, Hinmissy. Others made it befure me, but I made it las'. Th' las' man that makes a joke owns it. That's why me frind, Chancy Depoo, is such a humorist.

"An' I don't care how th' lights ar-re made, annyhow, whether be th' wather that r-runs over th' falls or be a man with a monkey-wrench in a power-house. What I'd like to see is th' light whin it's made. Hogan seen it, an' he says it makes th' moon look like a dark lantern. They speak iv th' sun in Buffalo th' way a motorman on a trolley line wud shpeak iv a horse-car. 'Th' sun is settin' earlier,' says he to Connors, th' thruckman that was towin' him. “TIN millyon dollars to make th’ Scotch a larned people,” said Mr. Dooley.

“Who done that?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“Andhrew Carnaygie,” says Mr. Dooley. “He reaches down into his pocket where he keeps th’ change an’ pulls up tin millyon bawbies, an’ says he: ‘Boys, take ye’er fill iv larnin’, an’ charge it to me,’ he says. ‘Divvle hang th’ expinse,’ he says. ‘Th’ more th’ merryer,’ he says. ‘A short life an’ a happy wan,’ he says. ‘Larn annything ye like,’ he says. ‘Name ye’er priference,’ he says, ‘an’ put it all down to Carnaygie,’ he says.

No matter how much I made I was hanted be th' fear that I'd wake up in th' mornin' an' find it all gone an' me with a pair of overalls on runnin' up a laddher with a box iv mortar on me neck. Whin ye run in an' paid me th' three millyon dollars ye owed, I was afraid to put it in a dhrawer fr' fear ye might come back afther I was gone, an' I did n't want to carry it in me pocket fr' fear I'd lose it, an' if I stuck it in a bank an' see th' prisidint ridin' in a cab, a chill wint up me back an' I dhreamed that night iv meself with a dinner-pail undher me arm pikin' off to th' rollin' mills just before th' sun come up. But ye get used to money just as ye get used to poverty, Hinnissy, though niver as much used to it, fr'm th' lack iv companions, an' there come a time whin I did n't know what to do with it. wan ought to be poor in this land iv opporchunity. As th' pote says, Opporchunity knocks at ivry man's dure wanst. On some men's duers it hammers till it breaks down th' dure an' thin it goes in an' wakes him up if he's asleep, an' iver afterward it wurruks f'r him as a night-watchman. On other men's duers it knocks an' runs away, an' on th' duers iv some men it knocks an' whin they come out it hits thim over th' head with an axe. But ivrywan has an opporchunity. Th' poor ar-re people that've been out at wurruk whin opporchunity knocked. I can't do annything f'r thim. Th' poor must n't be pauperized. But I must do something to get rid iv th' accumulations iv roly boly that's grajally crushin' out me young life, so I buys a university to play with.

“Th' day whin we millyonaires bought yachts an' brown stone houses with mansard roofs onto thim an' were proud iv havin' thim has gone by, Hinmissy. 'T will not be long befure none will be so poor as not to own a private yacht, an' th' nex' time a Coxey army starts f'r Wash'nton, it'll ride in a speycal vestibule thrain. 'Andhrew Carnaygie's tin millyons won't make anny Robert Burns,' he says. 'It may make more Andhrew Carnaygies,' says I. 'They'se enough to go round now,' says he.

"I don't know that he's right. I don't know f'r sure that Father Kelly is r-right, Hinmissy. I don't think it makes anny difference wan way or th' other how free ye make idjagation. Men that wants it 'll have it be hook an' be crook, an' thim that don't ra-aly want it niver will get it. Ye can lade a man up to th' university, but ye can't make him think. ## THE CRUSADE AGAINST VICE “VICE,” said Mr. Dooley, “is a creature of such heejous mien, as Hogan says, that th’ more ye see it th’ betther ye like it. I’d be afraid to enther upon a crusade again vice f’r fear I might prefer it to th’ varchous life iv a rayspictable liqour dealer. But annyhow th’ crusade has started, an’ befure many months I’ll be lookin’ undher th’ table whin I set down to a peaceful game iv solytaire to see if a polisman in citizens’ clothes ain’t concealed there.

“Th’ city iv Noo York, Hinmissy, sets th’ fashion iv vice an’ starts th’ crusade again it. Thin ivrybody else takes it up. They ’se crusades an’ crusaders in ivry hamlet in th’ land an’ places that is cursed with nawthin’ worse thin pitchin’ horseshoes sinds to th’ neighborin’ big city f’r a case iv vice to suppress. We’re in th’ mist iv a crusade now, an’ there is n’t a polisman in town who is n’t thremblin’ f’r his job.

Mr. Dooley's Opinions

“As a people, Hinnessy, we’re th’ greatest crusaders that iver was — f’r a short distance. On a quarther mile thrack we can crusade at a rate that wud make Hogan’s frind, Godfrey th’ Bullion look like a crab. But th’ throuble is th’ crusade don’t last affther th’ first sprint. Th’ crusaders drops out iv th’ procission to take a dhrink or put a little money on th’ ace an’ be th’ time th’ end iv th’ line iv march is reached th’ boss crusader is alone in th’ job an’ his former followers is hurlin’ bricks at him fr’ m th’ windows iv policy shops. Th’ boss crusader always gets th’ double cross. If I wanted to sind me good name down to th’ ginerations with Cap. Kidd an’ Jesse James I’d lead a movement f’r th’ suppression iv vice. I wud so.

“Ye see, Hinnessy, ’t is this way: th’ la-ads iliated to office an’ put on th’ polis foorce is in need iv a little loose change, an’ th’ on’y way they can get it is to be negotyatin’ with vice. Tammany can’t raise anny money on th’ churches; it won’t do f’r thim to raid a gints’ furnishin’ sthore f’r keepin’ disorderly neckties in th’ window. They’ve got to get th’ money where it’s comin’ to thim an’ ’t is on’y comin’ to thim where th’ law an’ vile human nature has a sthrangle holt on each other. A polisman goes affther vice as an officer iv th’ law an’ comes away as a philosopher. Th’ theery iv mesilf, Hogan, Croker, an’ other larned men is that vice whin it’s broke is a crime

It's been a dull summer annyhow an' people ar-re lookin' f'r a change an' a little divarsion, an' somebody who does n't raymimber what happened to th' last man that led a crusade again vice, gets up an', says he: ‘This here city is a verytable Sodom an' it must be cleaned out,’ an' ivrybody takes a broom at it. Th' churches appints comities an' so does th' Stock Exchange an' th' Brewers' Society an' aftler awhile other organizations jumps into th' fray, as Hogan says. Witnesses is summoned before th' comity iv th' Amalgamated Union iv Shell Wurrakers, th' S'ciety f'r th' Privintion iv Good Money, th' Ancient Ordher iv Send Men, th' Knights iv th' Round Table with th' slit in th' ceuthre; an' Spike McGlue th' burglar examines thin on vice they have met an' what ought to be done tow'rd keepin' th' polis in nights. Thin th' man that objects to canary bur-rds in windows, sthreet-music, vivysection, profanity, expensive fun'rals, open sthreet cars an' other vices, takes a hand an' ye can hear him as well as th' others. Some wan invints an anti-vice cocktail. Lectures is delivered to small bodies iv preachers on how to detect vice so that no wan can palm off countherfeit vice on thim an' make thim think 't is good. Th' polis becomes active an' whin th' polis is active 't is a good time f'r dacint men to wear marredge certy-ficates outside iv their coats. Hanyous monsther is nailed in th' act iv histin' in a shell iv beer in a German Garden; husbands waits in th' polis station to be r-ready to bail out their wives whin they're arrested f'r shoppin' afther four o'clock; an' there 's more joy over wan sinner rayturned to th' station thin f'r ninety an' nine that've rayformed.

"Th' boss crusader is havin' th' time iv his life all th' while. His pitcher is in th' papers ivry mornin' an' his sermons is a directhry iv places iv amusement. He says to himsilf 'I am improvin' th' wurruld an' me name will go down to th' ginerations as th' greatest vice buster iv th' einchry. 'Ye can't make laws fr' this community that wud suit a New England village,' he says, 'where,' he says, 'th' people ar-re too uncivilized to be immoral,' he says. 'Vice,' he says, 'goes a long way tow'rd makin' life bearable,' he says. 'A little vice now an' thin is relished be th' best iv men,' he says. 'Who's this Parkers, annyhow, intherferin' with th' liberty iv th' individooal, an',' he says, 'makin' it hard to rent houses on th' side sthreets,' he says. An' if ye've got a good man handy I wisht ye'd sind him over an' have him punch th' bishop's head. His grace is gettin' too gay.'

"An' there ye ar-re, Hinmissy. Th' crusade is over an' Vice is rampant again. I'm afraid, me la-ad, that th' frinds iv vice is too sthrong in this wurruld iv sin fr th' frinds iv varchue. That fellow with th' r-red hair is th' principal Rahway dealer in blackthorns. 'On me wurrud iv honor,' says Hannigan. 'I believe ye,' says th' chief. 'Swear him. Ye know th' solemnity iv an oath. Ye do solemnly swear be this an' be that that ye have not been lyin' all this time like th' knavish scoundhrel that ye wud be if ye did,' he says. 'I swear,' says Hannigan. 'That will suffice,' says th' chief. 'Ye look like an honest man, an' if ye're perjured ye'ersilf, ye'll go to jail,' he says. 'Ye're an American citizen an' ye wudden't lie,' he says. 'We believe ye an th' sicrety iv th' threasury believes ye as much as we wud oursilves,' he says. 'Go down on th' dock an' be searched,' he says.

"Hannigan says he wint down on th' dock practisin' th' lock step, so he wudden't seem green whin they put him in f'r perjury. I won't tell ye what he see on th' dock. No, I won't, Hinmissy. th' thrunks an' there was n't a woman fr'm th' boat that he 'd dare to look in th' face. He tur-rned away with a blush an' see his wife an' childher standin' behind th' bars iv a fence an' he started f'r thim. 'Hol' on there,' says a polisman. 'Where are ye goin'?' he says. 'To see me wife, ye gom,' says Hannigan. 'Ye can't see her till we look at what ye 've got in th' box,' says th' copper. 'Ye 'er domestic jooties can wait until we see about th' others,' says he. 'Ye 're a prisoner,' says he, 'till we prove that ye ought to be,' he says. With that Mrs. Hannigan calls out: 'Tim,' she says, 'Pah-pah,' she says. 'Ar-re ye undher arrest?' she says. 'An' ye promised me ye wudden't dhrink,' she says. 'What ar-re ye charged with?' she says. 'Threason,' says he. 'I wint away fr'm home,' he says. 'But that's no crime,' she says. 'Yes it is,' says he. 'I come back,' he says.

"With that another inspiector come along an' he says: 'Open that thrunk,' he says. 'Cut th' rope,' he says. 'Boys, bring an axe an' lave us see what this smuggler has in th' box,' he says. 'What's this? A blackthorn cane! Confiscate it. A bottle iv whiskey. Put it aside f'r ividence. A coat! Miscreent! A pair iv pants! Ye perjured ruffyan! "How do they do it?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Well," said Mr. Dooley, "nearly all th' most foolish people in th' counthry an' manny iv th' wisest goes to Noo York. Th' wise people ar-re there because th' foolish wint first. That's th' way th' wise men make a livin'. Th' easiest thing in th' wurruld is th' crather that's half-on, an' mos' iv th' people down there are jus' half-on. They'se no more crooked people there thin annywhere else but they'se enough that wud be ashamed to confiss that they were n't crooked, to give a majority. That's where our la-ads have th' others beat."

"They may slip up," said Mr. Hennessy.

"They're li'ble to wanst in a while," said Mr. Dooley. "But 'tis wan iv th' chances iv war. A rayformer thries to get into office on a flyin' machine. He succeeds now an' thin, but th' odds are a hundherd to wan on th' la-ad that tunnels through."

YOUTH AND AGE

“ I SEE that Tiddy — ” Mr. Dooley began.

“ Don’t be disrayspictful,” said Mr. Hennessy.

“ I ’m not disrayspictful,” said Mr. Dooley. “ I ’m affectionate. I ’m familiar. But I ’m not disrayspictful. I may be burned at th’ stake f’r it. Whiniver annything happens in this counthry, a comity iv prom’nent business men, clargymen an’ colledge pro-fissors meets an’ raysolves to go out an’ lynch a few familiar dimmycrats. I wondher why it is th’ clargy is so much more excitable thin anny other people. Ye take a man with small side whiskers, a long coat an’ a white choker, a man that wudden’t harm a spider an’ that floats like an Angel iv Peace as Hogan says, over a mixed quartette choir, an’ lave annything stirrin’ happen an’ he’ll sind up th’ premyums on fire insurance. Lave a bad man do a bad deed an’ th’ preachers is all f’r quartherin’ ivrybody that can’t recite th’ thirty-nine articles on his head. If somebody starts a fire, they grab up a can iv karasene an’ begin f’r to burn down th’ block. ’Tis a good thing preachers don’t go to Congress. Whin they’re ca’m they’d wipe out all th’ laws an’ whin they’re excited, they'd wipe out all th' popylation. They're niver two jumps fr'm th' thumbscrew. 'Tis quare th' best iv men at times shud feel like th' worst tow'rd those between.

“But amnyhow, I see that Tiddy, Prisidint Tiddy,— here's his health—is th' youngest prisidint we've iver had, an' some iv th' pa-apers ar-re wondherin' whether he's old enough fr' th' raysponsibilities iv th' office. He is n't afraid, but a good manny ar-re, that a man iv on'y forty-two or three, who has n't lost a tooth, an' maybe has gained a few, a mere child, who ought to be playin' mibs or ‘Run, sheep, run,’ at Eyesther Bay, will not be able fr' to conduct th' business iv Gover'mint with th' proper amount iv infirmity. Some day whin th' cab'net hobbles in to submit a gr-reat quistion iv foreign policy, th' prisidint 'll be out in th' back yard performin' at knock up an' catch with his sicrety. Whin he wants to see a foreign ambassadure, he won't sind fr' him an' rayceive him standin' up with wan hand on th' Monroe doethrine an' th' other on th' map iv our foreign possissions, but will pull his hat over his eyes an' go ar-round to Lord Ponsy-foot's house an' whistle or call out, ‘Hee-oo-cc.’ He'll have a high chair at th' table an' drink th' health iv his guests in milk an' wather; he'll outrage th' rools iv diplomacy be screamin' ‘fen ivrythings’ whin th' Chinese ministher calls, an' instead iv studyin' th' histhry iv our country, he'll be caught in a corner iv th' White House, peroosin' th' histhry iv Shorty in Sarch iv his Dad. I suppose we'll have th' usu'l diffyculties with him,— makin' him comb his hair an' black th' heels iv his boots an' not put his elbows on th' table, an' not reach or pint, an' go to bed afther supper an' get up in time f'r breakfast, an' keep away fr'm th' wather an' cut out cigreets an' go back to his room an' thry behind th' ears. But what can ye expict fr'm a kid iv forty-two?"

Youth and Age

"I wondher sometimes, Hinnissy, whin is a man old enough. I've seen th' age limit risin' iver since I wint into public life. Whin I was a young la-ad, a fellow wud come out iv colledge or th' rayform school or whativer was his alma mather, knock down th' first ol' man in his way an' leap to th' fr-ront. Ivry time school let out, some aged statesman wint back like Cincinnati to his farm an' was glad to get there safe. Ye cud mark th' pro-gress iv youth be th' wreck iv spectacles, goold-headed walkin' sticks, unrals teeth, an' pretinded hair. Th' sayin' was in thim days, ol' men f'r th' crossin', young men f'r th' cab. Whin ol' age disicided like a binidiction on a man's head, we put a green flag in his hand an' gave him a good steady job as assistant to an autymatic gate. Age is gr-reat, Hinnissy, as a flagman. It saves th' thrucks an' drays iv life fr'm gettin' in th' way iv th' locymotives. But it don't stop th' locymotives. They come too fast. Fifteen or twinty years hince, whin I become machure, I can tell ye ivrything nearly ye ought n't to do but nawthin' ye ought to do.

“In th' ol' days, a man was a man whin he voted — at twinty-wan in Boston, at eighteen in th' sixth war-rd. I r-read in this pa-aper that 't was even more so befure me time. Alexandher th' Gr-reat was on'y foorteen whin he conkered Boolgahrya, Cæsar was jus' fr'm business colledge whin he put Mark Antony out iv th' business. Frederick th' Gr-reat was in skirts whin he done whativer he done an' done it well. Fox an' Pitt, if I have th' names r-right, was in compound fractions whin they wint into th' council. Why, Hinnessy, I was hardly thirty-five whin I accipected th' prisidincy iv this establishment with all its foreign complications an' rivinoo problems! A man iv thirty was counted machure, a man iv forty was looked on as a patriarch an' whin a man got to be fifty, th' fam'ly put his chair in th' corner an' give him th' back bedroom. I had it all fixed to make me millyion at thirty an' retire. I don't raymimber now what happened to me between twinty-nine an' thirty-wan.

“But nowadays, be hivins, a man don't get started till he's too old to run. Th' race iv life has settled down to something between a limp an' a hobble. 'T is th' ol' man's time. An orator is a boy orator as long as he can speak without th' aid iv a dintal surgeon; an achor is a boy actor until he's so old he can't play King Lear without puttin' a little iv th' bloom iv youth on his cheeks out iv th' youth jar; a statesman that can't raymimber what Bushrod Wash'nton thought about th' Alyen an' Sedition law belongs in th' nurs'ry. I look ar-round me at th' pitchers iv gr-reat men in th' pa-aper an' greatness manes white whiskers. There's no such thing as age. If Methuselah was alive, he'd be captain iv a football team. Whin a man gets to ninety, he's jus' beginnin' to feel sthrong enough f'r wurruk. Annybody that thries to do annything befure he's an oncomfortable risk f'r th' life insurance comp'ny is snubbed f'r youthful impertinence. 'A new lithry light has appeared on th' lithrachoor horizon. Although on'y eighty-two, his little story iv "An affthornoon with Prudy" shows gr-reat promise. We hope he will some day do something worthy iv him.' 'Keokuk H. Higbie has been ilicted prisidint iv th' G. O. an' L. system to take th' place iv Lamson N. Griggs who has become head coach iv th' Cintinaryan Athletic club. Mr. Higbie has had a meteeyoric career, havin' risen in less thin eighty years fr'm th' position iv brakeman to be head iv this gr-reat system. Youth must be sarved.' 'A vacancy is expicted in th' supreme coort. Mither Justice Colligan will cillybrate his wan hundherd an' fiftieth birthday nex' month an' it is ipected he will retire. That august body becomes more an' more joovenile ivry year, an' there is danger it will lose th' rayspiet iv th' naytion. Manny iv th' mimbers was not prisint whin th' constitution was signed an' don't know annything about it.'

"So it goes. Mind ye, Hinnessy, I don't object. 'Tis all r-right in me hand, f'r, though far fr'm decrepit, barrin' th' left leg, I'm old enough to look down on Prisidint Tiddy if I did n't look up to him. If I was as old as I am now whin I was as young as I was before th' war, I'd be shy ivry time I see a man come into th' pasture with a bag an' an axe. They say rayspiet f'r ol' age is gone out. That may be throe, but if 't is so, 't is because us ol' la-ads is still doin' things on th' thrapeze. I don't want anny man's rayspiet. It manes I don't count. So whin I come to think it over, I agree with th' pa-apers. Prisidint Tiddy is too young f'r th' office. What is needed is a man iv — well, a man iv my age. An' I don't know as I'm quite ripe enough. I'm goin' out now to roll me hoop."

"Go on with ye," said Mr. Hennessy. "Whin do ye think a man is old enough?"

"Well," said Mr. Dooley, "a man is old enough to vote whin he can vote, he 's old enough to wurruk whin he can wurruk. An' he 's old enough to be prisidint whin he becomes prisidint. If he ain't, 't will age him."

I'll now belt you,' he says. An' they closely embrace. What happens, says ye? Well, th' big la-ads is sthrong and knows how to guard, and whin they 're spread out, small harm has come to thim. But th' little dhrunk financeers that 're not used to th' flowin' dividend an' th' quick profit that biteth like a wasp an' stingeth like an adder, th' little la-ads that are carryin' more thim they can hold an' walk, are picked up in pieces. An' as f'r me, th' innocint man that let the two burlies into me place to riot, I've got to make a call on th' furniture dealers in th' mornin'. That's what Hogan calls, Oh, Fi-nance. Oh, Fi-nance, as Shakespeare says, how many crimes are committed in thy name!

“T was a fine spree while it lasted, Hinnissy. Niver before in th' histhry iv th' wurruld has so many barbers an' waiters been on th' verge iv a private yacht. Th' capitalist that tinded to th' wants iv th' inner Jawn W. Gates lost his job at the Waldorf-Astorya f'r lettin' his diamond studs fall into a bowl of soup that he was carryin' to a former mumber iv th' chambermaid staff that had found a tip on Northern Passyfic on th' flure iv Jim Keene's room, an' on retirin' offered to match th' proprietor f'r th' hotel. Th' barber in th' third chair cut off part iv th' nose iv th' prsident iv Con and Foundher whin A. P. wint up fourteen pints. effect iv th' boom on th' necessities iv life, like champagne an' race horses an' chorus girls, common and preferred, was threemenjous. It looked f'r a while as though most iv th' meenyal wurruk iv th' counthry would have to be done be old-line millyionaires who'd made their money sellin' four cints worth iv stove polish f'r a nickle. But it's all past now. Th' waiter has returned to his mutton an' th' barber to his plowshare. Th' chorus girl has ray-sumed th' position f'r which nature intinded her, an' th' usual yachtin' will be done on th' cable cars at eight a. m. and six p. m., as befure. The jag is over. Manny a man that looked like a powdher pigeon a month ago looks like a hunchback to-day.

“It's on'y a few days since I see be th' pa-apers that Tim Mangan, th' bootblack at th' Alhambra Hotel had made a small fortune in stocks. It seems he used to polish th' pedals f'r a Titan iv Fi-nance, that f'r lack iv any other kind iv a tip, gave him wan on th' market. All Tim's frinds is delighted with his good luck. He said farewell to thim las' night at a bankit in th' Dead Fall resthrant. Mr. Orestes L. Hicks, th' bull leader, was prisint and pinted out Tim as an example iv what a young man cud do be close application an' industhree an' gamblin'. He predicted he wud shine in th' wurruud iv fi-nance as he had in a more humbler, but not less hon'rabable spare. (Laughter an' cheers.)

“Thin I read that Timothy Mangan, wanst a bootblack at th’ Alhambra Hotel, is supposed to be long a large block iv D. O. P. & E. After that I see that Timothy E. Mangan, who will be kindly raymimbered be pathrons iv th’ Alhambra Hotel, has been conspicuous in the sthreet, an’ is head iv a pool to consolidate th’ Egg, Oyster an’ Pie plants iv th’ counthry. Th’ nex’ week ’t was T. Emmett Mangan was seen las’ night at th’ Waldorf-Astoria, where he was histin’ in milk punches with his frind Orestes L. Hicks. Mr. Mangan is a firm believer in th’ future iv stocks. ‘Th’ counthry was niver so prosperous,’ he says. ‘Th’ banks are well protected an’ money is so aisy as to be almost uncomfortable,’ he says. ‘We ar-re goin’ to a three per cint basis,’ he says, ‘or even less,’ he says. ‘Some stocks won’t pay annything,’ he says, ‘if shares like S. N. A. & P., which pay on’y six per cint, ar-re worth two hundherd, shares that don’t pay annything are equally as good, f’r what th’ divvle is six per cint whin the counthry is so prosperous? Waiter,’ said th’ dashin’ young millyionaire, ‘bring this journalist a hogshead iv champagne wine an’ ordher me gilt coach an’ twelve horses f’r five o’clock. I’m goin’ to buy th’ front window iv a joolry store f’r Mame,’ he says. ‘Ye can keep th’ change,’ he says. ‘I don’t want ye-er money,’ says th’ waiter haughtily, throwin’ down th’ hundherd dollar bill. ‘Who ar-re ye?’ says Mister Mangan, cur-yously. 'I'm the bull leader in Amalgamated Hair,' says th' man, 'an' I'm on'y hangin' r-round here ontill th' boord iv directors gets off watch at th' bar an' comes in f'r to hold th' semi-anoosal meetin',' he says. Th' two gr-reat fi-nanceers, afther makin' an agreement to race their yachts nex' week, shook hands corjally, an' Mистер Mangan, havin' been helped on with his red plush overcoat be th' Prisidint iv th' Ump Naytional Bank, was escorted to th' dure be th' vice prisidint of th' Gum combine, who had on'y an hour befure handed in his resignation as chief bell-boy.

"That's the las' I'll hear iv Tim Mangan in th' newspapers, unless he's took up be th' polis. I have n't had me boots blacked f'r several Sundahs because it has n't been rainin', an' besides I did n't want to disthract anny iv our ladin' financeers fr'm their jooties to the wealth iv th' nation. But if 't will give ye anny satisfaction to have thim pumps iv ye-ere's japanned be a former bull leader, ye can go down to th' Alhambra Hotel an' 't will be properly done f'r five cints common, tin preferred. It's not as good a shine as it was six months ago. Wanst a man looks at a ticker, he can't see sthraight f'r some time. “I SEE,” said Mr. Dooley, “that good ol’ Yale, because it makes us feel so hale, dhrink her down, as Hogan says, has been cillybratin’ her bicintinry.”

“What’s that?” asked Mr. Hennessy.

“’T is what,” said Mr. Dooley, “if it happened to you or me or Saint Ignatyus Colledge ’d be called our two hundherdth birthday. From th’ Greek, bi, two, eintinry, hundherd, two hundherd. Do ye follow? ’T is th’ way to make a colledge wurrud. Think iv it in English, thin think it back into Greek, thin thranslate it. Two hundherd years ago, Yale Colledge was founded be Eli Yale, an Englishman, an’ dead at that. He didn’t know what he was doin’ an’ no more did I till I r-read iv these fistivities. I knew it nestled undher th’ ellums iv New Haven, Connecticut, but I thought no more iv it thin that ’t was th’ name iv a lock, a smokin’ tobacco an’ a large school nestlin’ undher th’ ellums iv New Haven where ye sint ye’er boy if ye cud affoord it an’ be larned th’ Greek chorus an' th' American an' chased th' fleet fut ball an' th' more fleet aorist, a spoort that Hogan knows about, an' come out whin he had to an' wint to wurruk. But, ye take me wurrud f'r it. Yale's more thin that, Hin-nissy. I get it sthraight fr'm th' thruthful sons iv Yale thimsilves that if it had n't been f'r this dear bunch iv dormitories nestlin' undher th' ellums iv New Haven, our beloved counthry an' th' short end iv th' wurruuld too, might to-day be no betther thin they should be. Ivry great invintion fr'm th' typewriter to th' V-shaped wedge can be thraced to this prodigal instichoochion. But f'r Yale, we 'd be goin' to Europe on th' decks iv sailin' ves-sels instead iv comin' away in th' steerage iv steamships or stayin' at home; we 'd be dhrivin' horses, as manny iv th' unlearned iv us do to this day instead iv pushin' th' swift autymobill up hill; we 'd be writin' long an' amusin' letters to our frinds instead iv tillyphonin' or tillygraftin' thim. Listen to what me classical assocoyate Mистер Justice Brewer, iv th' supreme coort, '68 — that was th' year he got his ticket out — says about our alma mather.

“‘Two hundherd years ago,’ he says, ‘Yale had sivin pro-fissors an' forty books; to-day she has sivin hundherd pro-fissors an' near three hundherd thousan' volumes iv lore. on th' mateeryal affairs iv th' wurruld. Whin this beautiful colledge first begun to nestle undher th' ellums iv New Haven, ships were propilled be th' wind ; our vehi- cles were dhrawn be th' ox, th' horse, th' wife, th' camel, th' goat, th' Newfoundland dog, th' zebra. Th' wind,' he says, 'blows no more lustier now thin it did whin Paul was tossed about th' Mediterranyan be th' tumulchuse what's-its-name. Th' ox an' th' horse has grown no sthronger, I assure ye, thin whin Abraham wint forth fr'm his father's house. But if Paul was livin' to-day, he wud go to Rome be th' Rome an' Tarsus thtransportation line, first-class. I don't know where he 'd get th' money but he 'd find it somewhere. He 'd go to Rome first-cabin an' whin he was in Rome, he wud, as Prisidint Hadley's frind Cicero wud say, do as th' Romans do. So be Abraham. Ye can undherstand fr'm this brief sketch what Yale has done. She has continyed to nestle undher th' ellums iv New Haven an' th' whole face iv th' wurruld has been changed. Ye will see th' value iv nestlin'. I wud apply th' method to thrusts. Iv all th' gr-reat evils now threat- enin' th' body politic an' th' pollytical bodies, these crool organizations an' combinations iv capital is perhaps th' best example iv what upright an' arnest business men can do whin they are let alone. They cannot be stamped out be laws or th' decisions iv coorts, if I have annything to say about it, or hos-tile ligislachion which is too frindly.

Their destruction cannot be accomplished be dimagogues. Miraboo, a Frinchman, wanst excited th' Frinch prolootoory to rayvolt. What good came iv it? They made France a raypublic, that's all. But something must be done about th' thrusts. They must be destroyed or they must not. How to do it. Th' answer is found in th' histhry iv Yale. Whin steam was discovered, she was nestlin' undher th' ellums iv New Haven. Whin th' tilly-graft was invinted, she nestled. She nestled two hundred years ago. She is still nestlin'. I ask her sons to profit be th' example iv their almy mather an' nestle. Whin things go wrong, nestle. Whin th' counthry is alarmed, nestle. Do not attmpt to desthroy th' hateful thrusts with harsh laws or adverse ligislachion. Nestle. An' there are worse places to nestle in thin a good thrust. An' if ye feather th' nestle, it's aisier on ye.'

"Well, sir, I think 't was good advice, an' I'm sure, Hinnessy, that th' assimbled hayroes iv culture thought well iv their degrees whin they got thim. What's a degree, says ye? A degree is a certyficcate fr'm a ladin' university entitlin' ye to wear a mother Hubbard in spite iv th' polis. It makes ye doctor iv something an' enables ye to practise at ye'er pro-fission. I don't mind tellin' ye, Hinnessy, that if I was a law which I'm not, I'd have to be pretty sick before I'd call in manny iv th' doctors iv laws I know, an' as f'r American lithrachoor, it don't need a doctor so much as a coroner. But annyhow degrees is good things because they livils all ranks. Ivry public man is entitled ex-officio to all th' degrees there are. An' no public or private man escapes. Ye have n't got wan, ye say? Ye will though. Some day ye'll see a polisman fr'm th' University iv Chicago at th' dure an' ye'll hide undher th' bed. But he'll get ye an' haul ye out. Ye'll say: 'I have n't done annything,' an' he'll say: 'Ye'd betther come along quite. I'm sarvin' a degree on ye fr'm Prisidint Harper.' Some iv th' thriftier univarsities is makin' a degree th' alternytive iv a fine. Five dollars or docthor iv laws.

"They was many handed out be Yale, an' to each man th' prisidint said a few wurruds explainin' why he got it, so's he'd know. I r-read all th' speeches: 'Kazoo Kazama, pro-fissor iv fan paintin' at th' Univarsity iv Tokeeo, because ye belong to an oldher civilization thin ours but are losin' it,' to 'Willum Beans, wanst iditor iv th' Atlantic Monthly but not now,' to 'Arthur Somerset Soanso who wrote many long stories but some short,' to 'Markess Hikibomo Itto because he was around,' to 'Fedor Fedorvitch Fedorivinisky because he come so far.'

"D'ye think th' colledges has much to do with th' progress iv th' wurruld?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

“WHAT ails th’ prisident havin’ a coon to dinner at th’ White House?” asked Mr. Hennessy.
“He’s a larned man,” said Mr. Dooley.

“He’s a coon,” said Mr. Hennessy.

“Well, annyhow,” said Mr. Dooley, “it’s goin’ to be th’ roonation iv Prisident Tiddy’s chances in th’ South. Thousan’s iv men who wudden’t have voted f’r him undher anny circumstances has declared that under no circumstances wud they now vote f’r him. He’s lost near ivry state in th’ South. iv th' race an' th' Cuban war, an' th' future iv th' naygro an' th' Cuban war, an' findin' Booker T. was intrusted in important public subjects like th' Cuban war, th' prisidint ast him to come up to th' White House an' ate dinner an' have a good long talk about th' Cuban war. 'Ye'll not be th' first Wash'nton that's et here,' he says. 'Th' other was no rilitive, or at laste,' says Booker T., 'he'd hardly own me,' he says. 'He might,' says th' prisidint, 'if ye'd been in th' neighborhood iv Mt. Vernon in his time,' he says. 'Annyhow,' he says, 'come up. I'm goin' to thry an experiment,' he says. 'I want to see will all th' pitchers iv th' prisidints beure Lincoln fall out iv th' frames whin ye come in,' he says. An' Booker wint. So wud I. So wud annywan. I'd go if I had to black up.

"I didn't hear that th' guest done annything wrong at th' table. Fr'm all I can larn, he hung his hat on th' rack an' used proper discrimination between th' knife an' th' fork an' ast f'r nawthin' that had to be sint out f'r. At th' con-clusion iv th' fistivities he wint away, laviu' his ilusthrees friend standin' on th' top iv San Joon hill an' thought no more about it. mimbers iv th' Booker branch on terms iv akequality. I don't suppose they have partitions up in th' other wurruld like th' kind they have in th' cars down south. They can't be anny Crow Hivin. I wondher how they keep up race supremacy. Maybe they get on without it. Annyhow I was n't worrid about Booker T. I have me own share iv race prejudice, Hinnessy. Ne'er a man an' brother has darkened this threshold since I've had it or will but th' whitewasher. But I don't mind sayin' that I'd rather ate with a coon thin have wan wait on me. I'd sooner he'd handle his own food thin mine. F'r me, if anny thumb must be in th' gravy, lave it be white if ye please. But this was n't my dinner an' it was n't my house an' I hardly give it a thought.

“But it hit th' Sunny Southland. No part iv th' counthry can be more gloomy whin it thries thin th' Sunny Southland an' this here ivint sint a thrill iv horror through ivery newspaper fr'm th' Pattymack to th' Sugar Belt. ‘Fr'm time immemorial,’ says wan paper I read, ‘th' sacred rule at th' White House has been, whin it comes to dinner, please pass th' dark meat. It was a wise rule an' founded on threue principles. Th' supremacy iv th' white depinds on socyal supeyrority an' socyal supeyrority depinds on makin' th' coon ate in th' back iv th' house. make no attmpt to supplant him with more intilligent an' wage labor. We encourage his indushtry because we know that f'r a low ordher iv intilligence, labor is th' on'y panacee. It is no good f'r a thoughtful man. We threat him right. He has plenty to do an' nawthin' to bother him an' if he isn't satisfied he be hanged. We are slowly givin him an' idjacation. Ivry year wan or more naygurs is given a good idjacation an' put on a north bound freight with a warnin'. But whin it comes to havin' him set down at th' table with us, we dhraw th' color line an' th' six shooter. Th' black has many fine qualities. He is joyous, light-hearted, an' aisily lynched. But as a fellow bong vivant, not be anny means. We have th' highest rayspict f'r Booker T. Wash'nton. He's an idjacated coon. He is said to undherstand Latin an' Greek. We do not know. But we know that to feed him at th' White House was an insult to ivry honest man an' fair woman in th' Sunny Southland an' a blow at white supremacy. That must be avinged. Th' las' enthrinchmint iv socyal supeyoryity in th' South is th' dinin' room an' there we will defend it with our sacred honor. We will not on'y defend our own dinin' room but ivry other man's, so that in time, if th' prisidint iv th' United States wants to ate with a naygur, he'll have to put on a coat iv burnt cork an' go to th' woodshed. felt las' year has come out again him. Th' tide has turned.'

"So there ye are. An' f'r th' life iv me, I can't tell which is right. But I think th' presidint's place is a good dale like mine. I believe that many an honest heart bates beneath a plaid vest, but I don't like a naygur. Howiver, Hinmissy, if Fate, as Hogan said, had condemned me to start in business on th' Levee, I'd sarve th' black man that put down th' money as quick as I wud th' white. I feel I wudden't, but I know I wud. But bein' that I'm up here in this Cowcasyan neighborhood, I spurn th' dark coin. They 'se very little iv it annyhow an' if anny iv me proud customers was f'r to see an unshackled slave lanin' again this bar, it'd go hard with him an' with me. Me frinds has no care f'r race supeeryority. A raaly supeeryor race niver thinks iv that. But black an' white don't mix, Hinmissy' an' if it wint th' rounds that Dooley was handin' out rayfrishmint to th' colored popylation, I might as well change me license. So be th' presidint. They'se nawthin' wrong in him havin' me frind Booker T. up to dinner. That's a fine naygur man, an' if me an' th' presidint was in a private station, d'ye mind, we cud f'rget th' color iv th' good man an' say, 'Booker T. stretch ye'er legs in front iv th' fire, while I go to th' butcher's f'r a pound iv pork chops.' onrais'nable prejoodices, an' afther all 't is to thim I've got to look f'r me support, I put me hand on his shouldher an' says I: 'Me colored frind, I like ye an' ye're idjaca-tion shows ye 're a credit to th' South that it don't desarve, an' I wud swear black was white f'r ye; but swearin' it wudden't make it so, an' I know mos' iv me frinds thinks th' thirteenth amindmint stops at th' dure shtep, so if ye don't mind, I'll ast ye to leap through th' dure with ye'er hat on whin th' clock sthrikes sivin.' 'Tis not me that speaks, Hinnissy, 't is th' job. Dooley th' plain citizen says, 'Come in, Rastus.' Dooley's job says: 'If ye come, th' r-rest will stay away.' An' I'd like to do something f'r th' naygur, too."

"What wud ye do?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Well," said Mr. Dooley, "I'd take away his right to vote an' his right to ate at th' same table an' his right to ride on th' cars an' even his sacred right to wurruk. I'd take thim all away an' give him th' on'y right he needs nowadays in th' South."
